

SYLVIA'S SINGING SENSATIONAL

Long-established Canadian folksinger Sylvia Tyson, hostess of CBC television's new "Country in My Soul" series, performed a special concert Sunday night at the Library-Cultural Centre in Georgetown.

A capacity audience in the John Elliott Theatre enjoyed Miss Tyson's delicately quavering vocal style in such popular folk and country tunes as "Will the Circle Be Unbroken" and several original songs.

Backstage after the show, Miss Tyson told former Herald reporter George Evashuk, commissioned to take these exclusive photos for the Herald that Halton Hills is lucky to have a facility like the new cultural centre. Town fathers, she said, deserve credit for their foresight.

Providing musical accompaniment for Sunday's show was the singer's permanent back-up band, which she formed with her ex-husband Ian Tyson almost a decade ago, the Great Speckled Bird. Members of the current band, who've toured with Sylvia the past three years, include Joan Besen on piano, "Rockin'" Randy Kempf on bass, Danny Greenspoon on guitar, Paul Beedham on drums and Al Kates playing pedal steel guitar.

'Horizons always widen', WI told

By Mrs. JOHN BELLBODDY

The Citizenship and World Affairs meeting of the Women's Institute convened last Tuesday evening Oct. 20 in Hillcrest Church with Marjorie Wilson as hostess. Attending were 30 ladies and two visitors, Mrs. Isabel Devereaux and Mrs. Frank Brown.

Pres. G. Treviranus opened with the ode and collect. Last month's minutes were read and Roll Call answered by an "interesting custom of another country". As this is the Year of the Disabled, we make a special project of a donation to ActiVan from our branch.

All were in favor of the secretary sending $1 per member to the Adelaide Hoodless Fund. Mrs. Pat Stark reported on the course "Food for all Seasons" and said the first meeting will be Nov. 3 in Hillcrest.

Doris McNabb gave the board meeting report. The motto "Horizons always widen for forward-looking folks" by Mrs. H. Shore. All stood up and sang Hymn of All Nations, then everyone listened with interest.

as Peggy Knapp described the W.I. exchange visit to England and Wales she had arranged as a bus tour last April.

Four of our members, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hunter, Irene Hunter, Vi Ainsworth and Annie Sampson from the Hornby W.I. went along. Vi Ainsworth told of the hostesses and their kindness and hospitality and Marion Hunter showed lovely colored pictures of the different places they visited.

They were all thrilled with the trip and looking forward to going another time.

On Thanksgiving weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Win. Allison entertained her cousin and daughter from New Zealand.

Mrs. C.M. Johnson and Elizabeth from Otago, New Zealand. The daughter had been on a young farmer's working experience in Oklahoma for the past six months.

Best costume prizes for holiday dancers

By WINIFRED SMITH
Herald Correspondent

There was a good crowd out Saturday evening to enjoy the fun and merriment at the Halloween Dance at the community centre.

D.J. George Adams supplied the music. Most couples came in costume.

Prizes were awarded to the following: Best dressed couple - Susan and Jerry Burgan; Best Male - Rick Knoepff; Best Female - went to the "Headless Woman" Marlene Burnett; The most original costume was awarded to Mrs. McMann.

As usual there was lots of delicious food at the party and a good time was had by all.

We have good reason to be proud of our young students living in the community. Besides Stuart Eckert receiving his diploma and special award at the Erin District High School commencement last week, there are others, namely Karen Batt, Ron Koperdraad, Katherine Lozinski, Steve Shepherd, and Dave Shepherd.

Kathy Lozinski won the Manatee Music award. Ron Koperdraad won the Douglas Covert trophy, the Prix de Concours Français award and the Wellington County Board of Education Memorial Bursary. Congratulations to all of these young people.

The seventh meeting of the "Ballinafad Basting Beeties", which is a sewing course currently underway by the 4-H homemaking club, was held Saturday morning at the home of Helga Schwarz. The girls are busy preparing for achievement day which will be held Nov. 25.

The beautiful weather Sunday brought many worshippers out to enjoy the Church Service. Rev. Bandy had an inspiring message for his listeners.

The ladies choir sang a beautiful anthem. Nancy Shortill at the piano with Eileen McEnery providing the organ music made the Sacred hour that much more enjoyable.

Mrs. Kanusek Sr. left Sunday for her home out west after an extended visit with son John and his wife Sharon. Bill Fellows, a former resident of Silver Creek, now a resident of Burlington, was a welcome visitor at the Smith farm Sunday.

Other visitors at the same home were Dennis and Darlene Smith, relatives from Milton.
