

Wrapping up another busy week

This was definitely trophy week at North Halton. Starting with Ladies competitive playdowns on Tuesday April 6, Shirley McDermot and her rink of Shirley Rae, Lois Massey and Mary Black were winners of the A event. They were presented with the Rene Holme Trophy. They also won the Taylor award for the year's highest aggregate score.

Bea Embling with Sherrill Collins, Evie Gable and Jackie Ross.

Three of our ladies teams were at a two-day bonspiel in Chinguacousy. They were Alice Frazer, Norma Wilson and Shirley McDermot with their rinks. They all won their games the first day, but were knocked out of competition on the second day. An enjoyable time was had by all.

The winners of the Thursday night mixed competitive playdowns and the Makovnyk Memorial Trophy were Steve and Shirley McDermot with George and Joan Shapcott. This team was undefeated all year.

LADIES THURSDAY

The Day Ladies Thursday draw finished on April 8 and the winning skip was Bea Embling, second place skip was Greta Lamb and third place skip was Mary Anne Marling. The winning Vices were Gert McGee first, Malena Letson second and Joan Shapcott third. The winning seconds were Dot Burgess first, Theresa Smith second and Catherine Hodgson third.

The winners for lead were Mae Cartwright first, Dot Hicks second and Mary Lou Grenier third. Each player played on a different team each week and carried her points for the whole draw.

This week is the grande finale for curling this season. The Cornelius Bonspiel has almost everyone curling all week, Sunday through Saturday, with a wrap up party on Saturday night. The theme is western, and a great time for all is in order.

Coming up Tuesday, April 20 is the Ladies Curling Section Annual Meeting. Time 9:30 a.m. for a business meeting and election of executive committee. This will be followed by lunch.

That's all for this week, see you all next week, for the last time. Good curling and see you on the ice.

Sunshine sketches of a sporting community

Those dismayed by the amount of hockey coverage in the past three or four weeks will be glad to know that our sportsdesk is turning its thoughts towards other sports teams and organizations, if not actually using the pen or the camera to publicize what rightfully is deserving news...

Since the Royal Canadian Legion Royalette girls fastball team from Georgetown announced that they wouldn't have a team for the 1982 season, some people may have wondered where these talented ball-players would go.

Rather than riding off into the sunset, we know what a few of the crusty veterans have in the wind for the coming season... Janet MacKay (first base) and Jennifer Linton (fielder) are practicing with Hillsburg. Third baseman Mealea Pollock was out to one practice too, but her plans are not definite on where she'll play.

from the house leagues this season.

Georgetown Baseball Association registrations are going well, according to registration chief Ruth Watts. There were 294 girls and boys signed up last year and this year with one more registration night (for the precasters) the 1982 total is 283. The GBA is hoping to break the 300 mark and signs are hopeful.

Coach of the Midget-age Stingers fastball girls team from last season is getting ready to enter his new team in the Southern Ontario Ladies Softball League. Brian James is hoping a number of his former Stinger players plus a few former Royalettes and out-of-towners will join the new team which accepts girls up to the age of 21.

For those interested in the competitive rep team, coach James will be holding the first workout of the season Thursday April 15 (tomorrow) from 9:15 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

at George Kennedy. The team is still looking for a sponsor and will be ordering uniforms in the next little while.

Back on track with some minor hockey news... the Georgetown District Minor Hockey Association (GDMHA) will be holding their annual-coaches appreciation dance April 17.

The Tri-County Rep hockey group, Georgetown Minor Hockey Support Group are holding their annual awards banquet Saturday May 1 at 4 p.m. at Georgetown District High School.

For Halton Hills runners wanting an excuse to start their spring training, the fourth annual Mayor's Race will be held Sunday June 13 which is much later than last year's race. No new twists for this year, says Race Coordinator Joy Gwilliam, but some more of the same good times with a pancake breakfast after the 5.5 km and 11.0 km races.

The Town of Halton Hills also will hold their Honor and Recognition awards evening April 26.

Girls hockey in Georgetown got together for a meeting last week with thoughts of forming their own executive, but ended up coming out in favor of working within the GDMHA framework.

As Girls Convenor Sue Dunning says, it was probably a lack of effort on everyone's part which led to disagreements with the Minor Hockey executive. The girls teams have never really had an executive for themselves, but now they see as the solution volunteering to work for the Minor Hockey executive as a whole.

There is room for girls hockey to grow in Georgetown, says Dunning, despite the town dropping from two teams to one team this past season. Hopefully parents of the girls will volunteer to help with the new executive of the GDMHA when they meet April 25 for their annual meeting.

Nancy Shorttill (shortstop) and Barb Curry (pitcher) were down in Toronto practicing with the Willowdale club. Barb is currently recovering from a knee injury which could hinder her plans for Spring training.

Michelle Miehms (pitcher) and second baseman Becky Halonen are thought to be turning their eyes towards Chinguacousy to play ball there for the 1982 season.

Meanwhile, in other fastball news, the Industrial Men's league is expanding from six teams to nine and perhaps even ten teams, newly elected president Shel Lawr says.

The Royal Canadian Legion Branch 129 curling team from Georgetown who came second in the Ontario Legion finals last year and won the Ontario crown the year before didn't enter competition this winter. Members of the veteran Legion team are Ken Taplin, Pat Chamberlain, Gord Campbell and Harvey Chapel.

Lacrosse registration has a new twist for Georgetowners wanting to play in the Minor Brampton Lacrosse Association. You can now register in Georgetown... This Saturday (April 17) at Holy Cross from 9:10-30, any boys from age 4-18 years who want to play lacrosse this summer should drop by. Further information can be obtained by phoning Irene McCauley at 877-7359.

Ladies house league basketball has been continuing throughout the winter as in past years, but perhaps with a lower media profile due to a hockey-buzzed winter in Georgetown.

But the girls are all set for the grand championship playoffs. The Spurs, led by their captain Mary Kelly, ended the season in first place, but they were beaten by the third place Bulls in a round robin series. Lou Oram has come on strong for her team, the Spurs, in the latter half of the season. So has teammate Samantha Reed from Erin.

For the Nicks, Irene Nicol has caught the eye of some basketball observers for her keen play. Karen Kearns from Rockwood plays for the Celtics and her husband plays for the Grey Cup Champion Edmonton Eskimos.

Anyway, according to coach Irene McCauley of the Celtics, Karen seems to be making a name for herself on her own.

Bullets coach Kyra Christensen-Irvine, who is also the coach of the Sheridan College team, has brought her girls a long way from the beginning of the season.

The girls won't be entering a Rep team

SHOOT AND SKATE

Optimist Club members had a busy Saturday planned for themselves when they held their annual hockey skills showdown. Players from all ages in Georgetown participated in skating, shooting and puck-handling drills. (Herald photo by Harald Bransch)

The Georgetown Chrysler Raiders are boosting the ticket prices for the Hardy Cup championship series to be played starting Friday, April 16 in Georgetown at Gordon Alcott arena.

Adult tickets go up $1 to a $6 admission charge while students will pay $3 and seniors-children $2.

The executive maintains that the costs are justified because the Quesnel, B.C. team will have their transportation ($834 per player return flight), food and lodgings paid for by the host club.

Raider GM Dave Kentner says the players on their club still have to be paid at the end of the season and it would be unfair if not every player received $1,000 for their efforts in producing a Hardy Cup finalist.

Tickets cost more

Good fan turnout
a good turnout by local fans from Georgetown.

Everyone played well and passed well and played good positional hockey, Barnes said. Kingston were a well-balanced club, but Georgetown outshot them, he said.

Since 1956 thousands of 8 and 9 year old boys have participated in the Timmy Tyke Tournament. Twenty teams faced off last Saturday in hopes of winning top honors at Maple Leaf Gardens.

More than $275,000 has been raised through this event for the physically disabled children served by the Easter Seal Society.
