Alcott tennis: win 3, lose 3

In the Mixed C division of the Intercounty tennis circuit, the Gordon Alcott team won three and lost three matches against Wallace Park.

Starting the team off on a winning note was the team of Jim Taylor and John D'Allison who won their match in sets of 3-6, 7-6 and 6-4.

Tony Holl and Marilyn Serjeantson downed their Wallace Park opponents with apparent ease in scores of 7-6 and 6-3 while Jim Taggart and Ed Rieger overpowered and dominated their opposition 6-0 and 6-0.

The doubles team of Al Adams and Sid Harris won 6-2, then slipped to defeat in scores of 2-6 and 3-6.

John and Linda Rice were beaten 1-6 and 4-6 while Ann Kennedy and Isla Allison lost 6-2, 4-6, 4-6.

Debut success

the opening batsmen, Sha-keer Jaboor and Ram Mongru, found the runs difficult to come by due to the accurate bowling of Burke and Osborne. Jaboor was out in Burke's second over with the score at three. Patrick Lall joined Mongru and both batsmen put up a solid defence and took the score to 18 when Mongru was unfortunately run out from an accurate throw-in by K. Hill.

Lall continued to bat well and after scoring 10 runs, flashed at a wide delivery from Burke and was caught by the wicket keeper. At this stage the score was 21 runs for three wickets and Georgetown seemed to be well poised for victory needing only 30 more runs with seven wickets intact. However, the next three wickets fell in rapid succession with the addition of only three runs to the total score.

Ken Jones and Ashley Windsor came together when the score was 24 runs for six wickets and defied the bowlers of any further success with patient and intelligent batting. When the Oakville's total of 50 runs was surpassed, Windsor was 15 not out and Jones 11 not out, thus enabling the Georgetown team to score a four-wicket victory in their first game since gaining promotion to the first division of the Hamilton and District Cricket League.

For Oakville R. Burke and N. Osborne were the most successful bowlers and ended with identical analysis of two wickets for 11 runs. K. Budrie got the other wicket for 10 runs.

The Georgetown A team will play the next game against Mississauga A at Jack Darling Memorial Park, Mississauga on Saturday, June 5.
