Pitching some "Black Magic" on the mound: It wasn't enough, though, as the Moody Blues downed the Black team 22-15 last Wednesday. (Herald photo by Chris Aagaard)

Black Magic's Blues

The Moody Blues began their game in a superb mood scoring seven runs in the first inning, and continued to be the winners over Black Magic 22-15. It was an overall strong consistent effort by the whole Moody Blue team. Lori Edgar demonstrated her fine talent with an unbelievable catch in centre field. Pitcher Ann Korzack for Black Magic certainly made an excellent, actually "stunning", survival catch.

Blizzard sport 9-5 record on the field

By ALEX TOUGH
Herald Special

The Blizzard sport a 9-5 record after dropping a 1-2 decision to Cosmos in New York. Cosmos, like other New York teams most times, appear to have all the luck in close decisions.

A wrongly taken penalty and a goal scored after time up set the seal on this game. On the penalty for Blizzard, the Cosmos goalie moved six yards before the kick was taken. The kick should have been retaken and the goalie cautioned. The referee chose not to. He also chose to ignore the goal scored after time up and allowed the goal to stand. I have said before and do so again, the standard of refereeing in the NASL is not up to the standard of players. Until it does the game and league will suffer.

Blizzard did themselves proud by defeating an under strength Juventus, who were nevertheless strong opposition. With well over $5,000 at the game matching, or beating, the Notts Forest crowd it seems that Toronto and district fans will come out for the "big" games.

Perhaps Blizzard should consider this aspect of world class opposition on a regular basis in order to bring much needed support to the team.

Jon's checkered flag well deserved

Monday, May 24th - A somewhat diminished Cornwell Racing Group arrives at Woodstock's lovely track. The first acts seem like a replay of Sunday. Cornwell squeaks the Suzuki during practice and switches to Sobering's machine.

Broomhead on the borrowed 500 is obviously unhappy with it but sharing Doucette's lightweight puts in a sparkling performance to finish second. Doucette again demonstrating his superiority wins both his heat and final. Things are looking up. Sobering and Cornwell win their heats. Sobering slips off the groove in the final and finishes out of the running.

Cornwell's final is right after Sobering's - no time to check the bike. Cornwell takes the lead by about 10 bike lengths two laps into the final, looks back to see where the opposition has gone, waves to the crowd on the front straight and seizes the motor on the back straight - pride goeth before a seizure...

In the 500 finals Sobering, riding Cornwell's machine gets a nice start but can't maintain the pace and again finishes out of the running.

Cornwell hops on the big 500 single, and dives into the first corner with Chris Evans and Brian Harnden all rubbing elbows. By the end of the third lap Evans and Harnden have pulled out a substantial lead over Cornwell and are going at it hammer and tongs.

Evans pushed Harnden for 10 laps but couldn't get by him and had to settle for second behind the American.

In the junior 500 final Brian Olsen, not quite so serene this time fought off a last corner charge by his rivals to hang onto his second fourth place finish of the weekend. The real hero in this class, however, is the doughty old 500 cc motorcycle which ran all weekend without missing a beat, no seizures, no breakages and put in more laps of racing than any other machine on the circuit.

The 750 expert final - the premier race of the day - Cornwell, who finished second in his heat behind the previous day's winner, Timmie Paul Johnston of Michigan, pulled all the other riders off the line, fought off Timmie Paul's initial charge and settled down to a picture perfect very smooth race.

At the end of 10 laps Cornwell had opened up a lead of half the straightaway over second place rider Peter Grant of Uxbridge, with Timmie Paul slipping to third place.

After the cumulated frustrations of the weekend, Cornwell took the checkered flag round on the victory lap with every sign of satisfaction.
