Laing's 'Hustle' gives them 8-1 win, Gary Maltby stars

By Barb Case
Herald Special

In the three games played on Sunday, Abitibi came away the big winners when they held the Huttonville Hawks off and maintained their first place status.

The first game played turned out to be a forfeit for the Petrohawk Oilers and an 8-0 win for Laing's Hustlers. The Abitibi Price squared off against the Huttonville Hawks at 12:30, and Gary Maltby and Steve Campbell were the stars of the day.

Gary went two for four at the bats, with a home run and four RBIs, while Steve slammed out two homeruns (all three were out of the park) and knocked in three RBIs, which didn't please the Hawk's pitcher, Pete Blacklock. While the Hawks did get seven runs across the plate, they were no match for the Abitibi bats. Final - Abitibi 16 - Hawks 7.

In the 6:30 game Indusmin took out the Ballin-afad Blue Jays.

On Tuesday the game between Laing's Hustlers and the Ballin-afad Blue Jays was a wash-out, but by Wednesday ball was on again at the Limehouse diamond and the Petrohawk Oilers and Abitibi Price duelled to a draw.

The Oilers scored three times in the first inning against Abitibi's one, and in the second a triple hit by Don Belford scored the Case brothers Tony and Jim.

In the fourth, Don Belford and Dave Piehl cross the plate to give the Oilers seven runs while Abitibi was held to two runs.

Then Abitibi's John Wilson scored Mark Weston on a double in the fifth and a super rally in the sixth tied to score seven all. Top of the eighth, and Abitibi gets the go ahead run when Gary Maltby's double brought Byron Shipway home.

Now the pressure was on for the Oilers. Were they to let Abitibi take the game that was theirs from the first inning? Well almost. Bob Haslam got on with a double, and went on home to tie the score 8-8.

TOP NOTCH
When Indusmin faced the home team, Huttonville Hawks, they proved that visitors or not, they wanted the win, and the Hawks had better be in top notch. They weren't, which Indusmin found out in the first inning, when they scored three times on three errors, and a two baser hit by Butch Jennings. The Hawks then got a run in when a super hit by Pete Garden got him around to third base and scored Bruce Holman.

In the second inning the Expos got three more runners home on three singles by Dave Williamson, Bob Doyle and Barry Dempsey. The Hawks got their second run in the fourth inning, when Fred Butler single scored Mark O'Neill, and for the Hawks the rest was history, because Indusmin went on to score nine more runs to make the final score Indusmin 15, Huttonville 2.

Ball flight

In the last few weeks we have been practicing our alignment, checking our grip and allowing our body to swing freely.

But, we still find that the ball is travelling off line. Or is it? Understanding ball flight will help us understand what path the club is travelling on, and the angle of the golf club as it travels down the target line.

As has been suggested in the past few articles, always have a target to aim at. While we are practising place two clubs down on the ground, one arriving at the intended target, the other will be placed on a line parallel to the target line (that is the line the body should be placed on).

As we hit each shot notice (1) where did the ball start in relation to the target and (2) which way did the ball travel as it got further away from you. Example: a tree has been set as the target, as you strike the ball the ball starts left of the target line - that indicates the path of the golf club. The ball begins to travel right as it nears its target, this will indicate the angle of the club face at impact.

Therefore what has just been hit was our ever present slice shot. The opposite is certainly true for the hook shot.

Understanding ball flight will greatly help in understanding the path your club is taking. The better you learn to aim, the better grip you develop and the ability to lessen the amount of tension in your body, as the swing is taken place, will greatly help in developing the shot that has been a constant flight pattern.
