

BON TEMPS EN FRANCAIS

"Alouette, gentille alouette." Singing the popular folk song, children in the recreation department's French Week program animated the song Thursday morning. Under the leadership of two Georgetown girls, Linda Chlasson, 16, and Caroline Shullis, 16, the 14 children registered in last week's program at George Kennedy Public School played games and sang songs to increase their French vocabulary and give them opportunity to practise the language.

Mr. Scott, 84, a retired carpenter lived most of his life in Erin and Erin Township.

Ms. Evans said she knew the Halton health authorities would receive a report on their father's death because she and her sister signed the forms at Guelph hospital releasing the information to them.

Ms. Evans sister, Mrs. Ray Death of Rockwood, talked to Dr. D.W. Van Der Bent, an Acton physician caring for Mr. Scott at the rest home, and was told he didn't blame the rest home operator for Mr. Scott's sores.

"Dr. Van Der Bent told her the sores definitely worsened after dad went to the hospital," Evans said.

"My sister had mom and dad at her place for Mother's Day and dad didn't complain of pain at that time. Dad was never one to mince words. If he was in pain, how come he never complained about it?"

Ms. Evans said she's like to see the matter closed.

"I'm sick of picking up the papers and reading about trouble at that place (Cher's Rest Home)," she said. "My parents were happy there and seem to be well treated. We visit often and they (the owners) never know when we're coming."

"You'd think we'd see something if they weren't being well treated."

Ms. Evan's mother, May Scott, 88, remains a resident of Cher's as well as Ms. Evan's mother-in-law and step-father-in-law.

Moving them to another place would be difficult because all three people would have to be placed together.

"My mother and mother-in-law are very close," she said. "They were neighbors for years in Erin and if we separated them I think it would kill mother. We have to think of the living too."

Seek BIA comment on arcades bylaw

The town's Business Improvement Area boards of management have been invited to comment on proposed changes to bylaw regulations concerning amusement arcades.

Council is considering an adjustment of the by-law to prevent an Acton arcade from being forced out of business because of the current law forbidding arcades within 300-meters of a residential area. One suggested change calls for reducing the 300-meter guideline to 25 meters, and another proposes allowing arcades in the historic downtown cores which would eliminate the 300-meter rule anyway.

The Acton arcade was located in a former service station near the community's Churchill Road South-

Highway 7 intersection. However, zoning in the area determined that the arcade was operating illegally, the Ontario Municipal Board maintained recently, forcing the arcade's owners to search for a new location.

One has been found in downtown Acton, but it's within the 300-meter perimeter.

Acton Coun. Ross Knechtel suggested that action on the changes should be deferred while the matter is discussed with BIA representatives. It will be brought back to council at its next meeting Aug. 9.

The third meeting of the Halton 4-H Horticulture Club was held June 9 at the Saliba Farm. Burke McNeill introduced Tony and Jim Saliba, the father and son team that run the business.

They discussed how they planted cauliflower in seedling trays, which are made of styrofoam. We travelled to the outdoor seed bed and then saw all of the stages at which cauliflower grows. We also saw red, green, and savoy cabbage. We took a look at the machinery used, and the cooler. We were told how they steam sterilize the soil and then the meeting was closed.
