MNR Crown land ideas await public comment

Herald Special Open houses across southern Ontario have been set up to give the public a chance to participate in the land use planning process of the ministry of natural resources.

Scheduled for this month, these events will display the recently completed district strategies which show what the ministry has proposed for Ontario's Crown Land.

Conservationists fear that commitments to industrial development may squander Ontario's natural heritage. "By the end of this year industry will be firmly established on the land assigned to it in the plans. If we don't get more parks now, our future choices are non-existent for wilderness parks, and ilmited for others," said Arlin Hackman of the Wildlands League, "Besides, all the candidate parks represent only five per cent of the productive forest land. That Isn't too much to ask," he said. "Protection and recreation are the two goals of the parks system. We wont Mr. Pope to live up to these goals in the plans," said Grace Patterson of the Canadian Environmental Law Association. "The ministry has pledged the people of Ontario a good Provincial Parks system. It is up to the public to make sure it is delivered," she said. Conservationists across the province joined her in encouraging the public to participate now in the Crown Land decisions. The deadline for public comment is Aug. 31.
