

POLYNESIAN PANTOMIME

It's just about the end of summer, so everywhere the youngsters who participated in various recreational programs through the season were getting together for wind-up shows, much to their parents' delight and amusement. The kids from the town recreation department's drama program had the John Elliott Theatre stage to themselves Friday afternoon, and the hula girls were only one of the attractions. (Herald photo)

Chicken Club kids rewarded

The first summer treat for Chicken Club members by the Optimist Club Drug Abuse Committee attracted some 85 youngsters 10 to 14 years old Saturday. The youngsters rode horseback, went on hayrides, took part in a treasure hunt, sang songs around a campfire and enjoyed a corn roast until the fun activities wrapped up at 8:30 p.m.

The day's activities took place on the Eighth Line at the Wildwood Manor horse ranch. The Chicken Club educates youngsters against the misuse of drugs and provides them with a positive peer group which makes it easier for them to say "no" to drugs.

While unemployment nudges the 10 percent mark in many parts of the country, the Texas Engineering Extension Service is training heavy equipment operators as fast as it can to meet the demand for construction projects in Texas. Starting salaries sometimes reach $13 per hour.
