

On the road again

Paul Bunyan Labor Day salute

The back packs have been opened up, and the sleeping bags rolled out. The tents have been unravelled and the missing poles and ropes gathered up.

Dust fills the air as the pop up and hard top trailers snap into place. All available space is crammed in the camping vans, and the CB's Antenna are checked on the truck camper.

After checking the wheel bearings and filling the propane tanks, the trailer homes are on the move. Having the motor tuned up, and checking the tire pressure, the only thing left for the motor homes is to fill gas on propane tanks for travelling.

The one thing this all has in common is the Georgetown Fireflies are back into camping, and on the move.

With a full agenda on our schedule, we are headed in four different directions. Some of the weekends already have been damp, but not the enthusiasm of this camping club. With all the different types of themes and activities, and always sure of a place to camp for the weekend, how can you go wrong?

When not camping the club has managed to squeeze in a pool party, a BBQ and a corn roast.

On the Labor Day weekend, the Fireflies had planned a fishing trip up north.

At this particular campground, they were holding a Paul Bunyan Festival Day. So like the good sports we are, the fireflies joined in on this lumber exercise, sawing logs, driving spikes, running the logs, rolling logs while eating beans, log toss, tug of logs, plus an obstacle course. The Fireflies ended up with two out of the three trophies presented by the campground.

Since this was a fishing trip, the club did enjoy the taste of fresh caught fish. Two beauties were caught that weekend, one 4 1/4 inches weighing 14 1/2 pounds, and 3 1/4 inches weighing 13 pounds. That's all-muskie.

The fireflies still have up to the middle of October with theme campouts.

The fireflies also have to get back down to business, and their regular meetings start up again on the third Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. Meeting place up again on the third Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. Meeting place is in the basement of the Canada Trust Building on Main Street in Georgetown.

This is where the structure of the club's upcoming year's activities are worked out. These meetings are open to anybody interested in family camping.

So to all you outdoor campers, whether independent or a full-timer, if you would like some variety in your camping, come on and look us up. We are a friendly group.

The Georgetown Fireflies are associated with the Canadian Family Camp-in Federation (C.F.C.F.).

There is also another good family camping club in Georgetown by the name of the Hungry Hollow Hobos, who are associated with the National Campers and Hikers Association (N.C.H.A.).

Both of these clubs carry on all-year activities, and would be very interested in talking to interested campers about joining a club. Perhaps we will meet you at the next campground?

Drug busts

Joining the crowds at the Georgetown Fall Fair this weekend were members of the Halton regional police drug squad. Saturday night they charged two Georgetown men with trafficking in a narcotic and a Georgetown woman with possession of a narcotic. They seized 218 grams of cannabis hashish with a street value of $2,000.

A 22-year old Halton Hills man was charged with possession of a narcotic Sept. 1 when Halton regional police conducted a check of his vehicle on Guelph Street and discovered a small amount of hashish in his possession. The man will appear in court Nov. 8.
