are alive and
playing wellBy TIM TOLTON
Herald Special

Who says the Cardiac Kids play ball in Cleveland? Forget it — they're alive and well and playing right here in Georgetown. These guys don't serve light beer, only the real suds and the fans loved it as three out of four weekend games were won on the last play of the game.

Delrex Smoke Shop cut down M and M Pro Sports 22-21, North Halton Sports nailed Royal Pizza 17-13, and Dairy Queen knocked off Foberts 21-17.

The Greeks were the only team to screw up the script pouncing Norval 42-16.

THE DIFFERENCE

There's a line in one of the all time great westerns, Rio Bravo, where the young hot shot Rick Nelson asks John Wayne who is better, him or Dean Martin, and Duke draws, "I wouldn't want to have to get by on the difference."

A football team trying to get by on the margin between M and M and Delrex would be in pretty sad shape too.

This was no game for quiche eaters either as both teams banged heads for sixty minutes until with three plays left Delrex's Bob Inglis hit Chris Sargent to move them from their own forty-five to M and M's thirty-two.

On the next play Inglis took off and legged it to the seven.

Enter Doctor Death Doug Thompson who calmly blasted his third field goal of the game to give Delrex the win and the lead for the first time in the game.

M and M struck first when Mitch Leblanc hit John Owen in the first quarter.

John Vieira tied it for Delrex but Mike Lord ran in from five yards out to put M and M back on top.

HIS FIRST

Thompson's first field goal of the day got Delrex close again and Chris Sargent intercepted a Leblanc pass to keep Smoke Shop in range at the half.

M and M's Dave Warman had the only touchdown in the second half for either team but two more field goals by Thompson bailed Smoke Shop out.

With the same impeccable sense of timing as the Montreal Expos, North Halton Sports may have left it a little too late to make a run at the playoffs but it's nice to win anyhow.

Top drawer entertainment all the way, this was a game for defensive purists.

North Halton carried a 9-0 lead into the fourth quarter on the strength of a TD by Greg Lawr and a field goal by Andy Tyrell.

PIZZA LEAD

Royal got close on a scoring pass from Paul Larose to John Larose, then the defense which already had one turnover by Brad Ferguson, came up big again when Mike Pollard picked one off and returned it 50 yards to score and give Pizza the lead.

Dave Smith's convert made it 15-9 with two minutes to play.

In the final minute North Halton rallied to hit Lawr for the major on the final play, then just to show they could do it again they drilled Mike Buck for a two point convert.

Dairy Queen have fallen on hard times in recent weeks and for a while it looked as though this would be another of those days, but two fourth quarter TDs, one on the last play, saved them from severe depression.

Tied 7-7 at the half on a Fobert major by Rick Donaldson and one by DQ's Ron Lunn, Foberts drew ahead on Terry Hunt's field goal midway in the third quarter.

EGERTON SCORES

Paul Egerton then scored to give Dairy Queen the lead but Rick Oestofe soon put Fobert back on top. Keith Peacock and Dale Mieznic traded interceptions and as time wound down Fobert began to falter.

Seizing the momentum Dairy Queen began a late drive and once again on the final play Steve Crossman scored to put a lien on Foberts mortgage and steal it 21-17.

Norval enjoyed their run in with the big bad Greeks about as much as open heart surgery and that's easily understood considering their offensive output for the first half was a whopping one point. Greeks were just tuning their axes in that half and held themselves to 20.

Both teams broke into song in the second half though, with the Tavern scoring 22 and Arcade 15. Norval actually outplayed their opponents in the fourth quarter when Wayne Johnson scored eight and Bruce Cunningham six.

The Greek scoring came from John Karolidis 12, Paul Wilson 12, Linas Stauslis 6, Steve Pearce 6, James Allen 4 and Paul Karolidis 2. John Karolidis and Lober Rivers each had an interception.

Next week will go a long way toward determining the final standings as M and M and the Greeks meet at 8:45 followed by

Abitibi Price oust
Hawks in 3 straightBy BARB CASE
Herald Special

Abitibi Price proved that they earned their first place league standing this year after taking out the second place Huttonville Hawks in three straight in the finals this past week.

In the first game the winning pitcher Bob Fendley - Abitibi - had the help of his whole team to take a shut out 5-0.

Abitibi's Steve Campbell scored on Byron Shipway's double in the fifth and Bob's single scored Byron. But it was Mark Weston's home run in the seventh with two runners on base that ended the game and gave them the win.

It was the second game, that almost done the Hawks in. While the Hawks were hitting as much as Abitibi, they didn't manage to get on base like Abitibi or to cross the plate.

And Abitibi crossed home plate nine times by the seventh, before the Hawks got in a run.

They did get three runs in the seventh and four more in the eighth but Abitibi's 10 runs gave them their second win, and with two down that only leaves one to go.

The final was one hell of a game for both teams and one exciting play at first base, where both teams conjured for a short heated discussion. Now back to the game:

Huttonville's Rob Reid scored on Pete Blacklock's - pitcher - single in the second. Abitibi's Gary Moore tied it in the third on Mark Weston's single.

Both teams were held scoreless until the bottom of the fifth when Gary Moore again scored, this time with Bob Fendley's - pitcher - help, sacrifice fly.

Huttonville came right back in the sixth when Fred Butler singled and scored on Pete Garden's sacrifice on a grounded out at first:

The score was held at two all until the top of the tenth when Marty Zilio doubled and scored on Fred Butler's single.

Fred was 4 for 5 at the bats. Huttonville now had the go-ahead run. But now it was Abitibi's turn. Mark Weston knocked out a double, and Glen McKenzie slammed a triple to bring in Mark. Tied game.

With one on at third one away and catcher Steve Campbell steps up to the plate. Scoring a nice single, Steve brought in Glen and finished the series for his team in three straight games.

Congratulations to both teams. That almost wraps up ball for this season. There is just the all-star game to go, which will be played next Sunday at 12:30.

Glen Merchants need another

The Glen Williams Merchants need one more win against Erin to cap off a sweep of their semi-final series.

Last Sunday afternoon at home in the Glen, the local green and white ousted Erin 10-3.

Erin tried in vain to stop the Merchant offensive attack by activating all three pitchers.

Terry Haines pitched for the Merchants, gaining seven strikeouts, while only allowing three hits.

Andy Broadbent had a field day for the Glen, connected with the bat for a 4 for 5 record. Broadbent was the designated hitter for the game.

Broadbent had two singles, a double and a triple. Glen McClure was on base four times and he scored three of the Merchants runs.

The entire team played well, coach Cliff Norton said. The Glen also played a good aggressive game on the bases, he said.

The fourth game of the best of seven series will be played tonight (Wednesday) in Erin.

If a fifth game is necessary it will be played at Glen Williams Sunday at 3 p.m.

In the other series semi-final, Alton destroyed the Cambridge Juniors, Norton said.

Drug abuse a problem with bodybuilding

Olympic Health Club owner Jim Parker is sponsoring an internal club bodybuilding competition because he recognizes there is "a big drug problem in bodybuilding".

The 24-year old Brampton club owner is holding a bodybuilding contest for 19 competitors Saturday, September 25 at the Halton Hills Library-Cultural Centre.

Parker is adamant about the harmful effects of "muscle drugs" to a person's health such as oral and injectable steroids.

Although a majority of bodybuilders use muscle

Another reason for holding a competition for his club members is to

Salmon hunt from a bird's eye view

The hottest news of the day of course is the Million Dollar Coho. This fish was released for the Toronto Star Great Salmon Hunt with a special tag crafted by Birks Jewelers.

The tag was sterling silver and gold plated with the words GREAT SALMON HUNT and a serial number on the obverse. At the time of writing this column it has not been caught but if it is before the 30th of September it is now worth $10,000.

After that time it is only worth the fame that it would bring you as its captor, and of course the value of the silver-gold tag.

So much happened last weekend (Sept. 18 and 19) that it would take up the complete sports section of The Herald to tell it all, and they would not give me the space. However I will try to give you the highlights.

HELICOPTER

While my wife Irene and I were up in the official helicopter over Lake Ontario we filmed the news shots used on CFTO channel 9 news. With my knowledge of the charter boats and who would be sure to have fish on board, we hovered over them as they showed us their fish. The 'copter pilot, Ron Boyd co-operated expertly and we covered a lot of the lake checking boats.

After we got back on Terra Firma, Irene pointed out Bob Hall of Georgetown and his fishing partner Don Banks. Bob had slept on the river in order to get his boat launched and get an early start.

He showed me a 14.14 Coho to prove his expertise and has a 32nd place winner in the fourth week with a 14.94 Rainbow trout. Brent Hall, (no relation) also of Georgetown was not so lucky. Brent and his 16 year-old son Dan and Brent's 65 year-old father capsize between three and four miles off shore from the "Cement Plant".

The wind whips up rather wild in that area, and Brent's 16-foot boat took water over the bow and bailing could not keep up, and the stern went down.

BETTER EQUIPPED

When I talked to Mr. Hall he made a point of advising others to be better equipped for that wild and wonder Lake Ontario. Although an experienced boater and fisherman, and despite the fact that they were heading back to shore, Brent admitted that he should have left sooner.

The Hall's advice? Never go out without a radio, especially C.B. Keep an eye on the sky. Don't hesitate to head for shore and never venture out further than is sensible for the size of your boat. Brent Hall has already won a rod and reel in one of the weekly mini contests but that does not soften the blow of losing so much.

Two thousand dollars worth of gear will take a while to replace, but lives cannot be replaced.

There are a great many stories that could be told of that day, and many people asked the value of such a high prize for a single fish. Of course it will bring out the worst in people and make a mob scene out of fishing. At least this is what I heard often enough around the lake.

NO FIGHTS

Personally I did not find this to be so. The boats were scattered and not in the well known
