

Distant Galaxies
Hot gas that radiates light with enormous energy has been discovered in several giant galaxies that are about 10 billion light years from the earth.

The discovery in a continuing astronomical project at the University of California opens a new glimpse of unusual physical conditions that existed when the universe was less than half its present age.

Queen's Perfume
The first modern perfume, consisting of oils blended with alcohol, was created at the command of Queen Elizabeth of Hungary in the 14th century.
