It was a sad moment for Glen Williams Merchants fans as they saw their hometown favorites lose the Intercounty fastball crown to Alton Friday night. The 4-2 game was the fifth game of the best of seven series. Seen here are the dejected Merchant team shaking hands with Alton. Number nine is the pitcher Donaldson who played a major role in his team's win. From left to right is Glenn Fendley, co-coach Bud Haines and Mike Reynolds.

'Alton hungry to win.'

They did: 4-2 against our Merchants Friday

 Two runs in the ninth inning with the game tied destroyed any chance the Glen Williams Merchants had of beating out Alton for the Intercounty fastball crown.

The Merchants were ousted 4-2 Friday night in a home game that was symbolic of the entire final playoff series - it could have gone either way. The Glen men got their share of bad breaks in the fifth game of the best of seven series. The Merchants were the defending Intercounty champions.

The game was tied 2-2 in the eighth inning when a Lester Wilson pop-up was apparently dropped by an Alton batter in shallow right field. Glen McClure was able to make it to home plate from first base, but the umpire ruled afterwards the run was disallowed, because the Alton fielders hadn't actually dropped the ball.

BOBBLED
 The bobbled pop-up was dropped by the first Alton fielder, but the umpire said it was dropped on the shortstop's glove and thus never touched the ground. The game remained at 2-2 when Alton scored two more runs in the ninth inning.

After the game co-coach Cliff Norton emphasized the impact of the disallowed run. He was pleased how the Glen men stayed right in the game all the way. Some players like Glen McClure were playing hurt, he said. Alton were 'hungry to win, but on any given night the Merchants can beat them, he said. Terry Haines mixed the ball well as the Glen Williams pitcher, the coach said. He would give Terry the first star vote for going the distance against Alton.

pop fly to shallow right field. It was apparently dropped by Alton fielders, but the umpire said the ball never touched the ground. McClure, meanwhile had scored, but the run was disallowed.

The game was scoreless until the fourth inning. The first Alton batter bunted the ball, but the throw went over the head of first baseman Jeff Haines, advancing the runner to second base. The second Alton batter also tried a bunt, but he was called out. However, the first baserunner advanced to third base.

A solid single by Alton's third man up scored the runner from third base. The next batter was out at first when Jeff Haines picked up the bunt and tied it to Glen McClure who covered up from second base.

A pop fly just into shallow centre field put Jackie Bergman in the hero's role with an excellent running catch. In the bottom of the fourth the Merchants retaliated with two runs to take a 2-1 lead in the game.

Andy Broadbent started it off with a single to right field. A bad pitch advanced him to second base. CHOPPED IT Mike Reynolds then chopped a hit into right field to score Broadbent. Rob Hatcher hit a smoker into deep right field for a triple. The hit scored Mike Reynolds for the second run. For the next two innings neither team was effective at bat. But in the seventh inning Alton's pitcher Donaldson bunted and the throw was overthrown and he made it to second base. Another bunt put Donaldson to third base, but the batter was called out at first. A hit just over Jeff Haines' reach at first base scored Donaldson for one run. The game became a 2-2 standoff. In the eighth inning the Merchants collected a few fielding errors and allowed an Alton baserunner to advance on steals to second and third base, but no runs were scored by Alton. The Glen men came back to get in the game when Glen McClure hit a single to left field with two out.

Alton came alive in the ninth inning. The first batter was struck out by Terry Haines, but the second batter singled to centre field. The next Alton player hit a single which advanced the other baserunner to third base. A steal to second base followed. Alton then scored their tie-breaker with a single. The other Alton baserunner was caught in a squeeze play between third base and home. Merchant catcher Glen Fendley hit the Alton baserunner with his throw to third baseman Les Wilson which allowed the Alton player to score. The Glen team tried to rally in the bottom of the ninth but were given little opportunity.

Sabres corral Barrie Colts after shaky first period

By DENNIS LAWRENCE
 Herald Special
 In a home game Friday night the Acton Sabres came from behind to tie the Barrie Colts 4-4.

The Sabres opened the game with an early lead and mid-way through the period struck again on a short handed goal. Six minutes later Barrie scored again as they kept the Sabres hemmed up in their own end taking a 3-0 lead into the dressing room. Even though the Sabres came out flying in the second period the Colts scored a power play goal early in the period.

The Sabres then started to press the Colts as they scored a power play goal by Jamie Morrison assisted by Ken Franklin and Bob Boldt. The play became more physical and wide open until mid-way through the period when Ken Franklin teamed up with Len Pellizzari and Gord McArthur for Acton's second goal. PRESSURE As Acton started to put the pressure on, Art Keating scored an unassisted goal five minutes later. The Sabres kept up the pressure but failed to score again before the period ended. The Sabres kept up the pressure and at the three minute mark achieved a tie on Art Keating's second goal of the night which was assisted by Mark Symes and Paul Cargil. The rest of the period was very physical and became wide-open as a result. Both goalies came up with key saves stopping either team from taking the lead. Sabres coach Bill Richmond said the team started off slow and weren't finishing their checks. As a result, the Colts jumped on Acton for an early lead. The Acton Sabres, rated poorly in pre-season, now has extra initiative to play harder and they proved it against the Colts who are rated in the top five.

Robbins' a star

Georgetown native Steve Robbins is this week's OUA Athlete of the Week. The Ontario Universities Athletic Association chose Robbins for the two goals he scored in each of his York Yeomen's games against RMC Redmen and Queen's Golden Gaels in soccer action. The speedy right winger is 20 years old and is currently in his second year of study in the faculty of science.

Our Herald photographer managed to corral two of the cross-country winners at Centennial Public School during their annual inter-school competition. Tara Burroughs of House 4 won the Grade 7 race while Joe Wilkins of House 1 was the victor for the Grade 8 race.

Names in the news

Rob was ninth

Rob Masson of Georgetown placed ninth in the mile freestyle swim race at the Commonwealth Games last week. Masson missed the final heat by one placing in representing the Canadian swim team in that event. He is planning to stay in Australia, the site of the 1982 Games, for one week to sightsee, then return home.

Bowling exec.

The Georgetown Lawn Bowling association held their annual meeting Thursday and voted in the following executive. President will be William Percy with Reginaid Broomhead serving as first vice-president. Second vice-president is George Haywood while Norris Hobbs was elected secretary. Tournament secretary is Morley Mills as Jim Zebede takes on the duties of chairman of the greens. Ted Lawrence is in charge of membership and registration.

Gemini

Georgetown ignite against Cougars in 6-1 first win

The Georgetown Junior B Geminis made great strides over the past week sparring with Milton 6-6, then dominating the Burlington Cougars 6-1. Both opponents were supposedly high-ranked, with Milton having won their first two games of the season. The Geminis stayed with the Milton Steamers step for step and were never behind at the end of a period of play. "The team has been working hard and now it's startling to reap dividends," said Gems coach Bob Smulders. "They're starting to realize that if they work hard, they can beat anybody," Smulders said. "The win Sunday (against Burlington) was just a feather in our hat and we hope to keep that going," he said. General manager Bob Webster is happy with the Geminis' performances lately, but he stresses no one is getting overconfident or doesn't realize there is still a lot of work to be done. The Gems lost the first two games of the season against Oakville and Acton.

down this season, said Webster. The Geminis are getting to know each other better and are following the system the coach is teaching them, Webster said. The general manager is very adamant about the positive direction in which coach Smulders has led the club. The addition of several veteran hockey players to the club might also have helped steady the Gemini attack against Milton and Burlington. In the Milton game, Lance Doucette, who played with the Geminis last year returned to a Georgetown uniform. Also, aggressive winger Mark Hamilton came down from school in Sudbury to play for the Milton and Burlington games. Against Burlington, Mike Doucette joined the Gemini squad on defence and general manager

Webster was impressed with his play. RE-JOINED In addition Chris Peavoy has re-joined the team after he had sought to be traded to Streetsville. "If Chris works hard he can help us," coach Smulders said. But individuals won't win games and Smulders said he's happy that the

Clinic to improve strategies, skill

 A clinic conducted by Anne Hofland of the Ontario Women's Field Hockey Association was both rewarding and enjoyable for Georgetown High School's field hockey team, said coach Ruth Peden. The clinic was held after school Monday, October 4, prior to the next day's game. The discussion covered game skills, including offensive and defensive playing strategies. Tuesday's game saw the senior girls shutout Lord Elgin 1-0. The lone goal was scored by Denean Jones. "Their positioning was one hundred per cent," added Mrs. Peden. However, the juniors lost their game immediately following to Lord Elgin 1-0.
