Pipe band's anniversary 'stirring'

By DEANNE RAINBIRD

GGPB secretary The Holy Cross Church hall was dimly lit: the audience was quiet and the air crackled with anticipation the evening of Sept. 25. Suddenly, the Georgetown Girls' Pipe Band descended upon the hall highland regalla swinging and pipes and drums playing the great music of Scotland.

It was a stirring moment, especially for those in the audience who had been members of the Band at some point during its long and colorful history.

The Georgetown Girls' Pipe Band, one of the oldest all-girl pipe bands in North America, celebrated its 40th anniversary this year. In addition to the band's performance at the ball, entertainment for the evening included Scottish dancing regular dancing and a sing-along led by Bill Barclay. A delicious buffet supper was provided by the girls.

Inex Crichton, one of the original members, gave a most entertaining speech on the band's origins and its early experiences. A number of

Christian teachers meet in Hamilton Oct. 21

Herald Special About 450 Christian school teachers from across Ontario will meet in Hamilton Oct, 21 and 22 for the 26th annual Ontario Christian School Teachers' Convention.

The teachers will listen to speakers, browse through a show of textbooks and curriculum materials and attend 59 different workshops ranging from current issues in moral values education to creative writing to work and computers.

The theme for the twoday convention is 'Changing World, Changeless Christ". Speakers and participants will grapple with the questions of teaching in a changing world and the significance of Christ in that world. The convention will be addressed by two keynote speakers, Dr. Bernard Zylstra and Geraldine Steensma.

Dr. Zylstra, principal of the Institute for Christian Studies, a post-graduate centre in Toronto, will speak on the convention's theme. His talk is about the major changes and challenges in our society and the implications to Christian schools.

Geraldine Steensma will speak on the subject of pedagogy and learning in Christian schools. Mrs. Steensma is a former teacher with many years of experience. She is currently a curriculum consultant for Signal Publishing Consulting Corporation. Rural Cemetery. The convention will not ers, though. On both days, there is singing and devotions. Thursday, a ban-quet will be held with musical entertainment.

former members were present at the ball, and being great sports, they picked up pipes and drums to join the band in a few old favorite tunes. Margaret Hillier, Drum Major of the band from 1957 to 1970, presented Pipe Major Virginia Hulme with a beautiful bouquet of flowers in thanks for her 27 years of dedicated service to the band (the last 15 as Pipe Major).

The Georgetown Girls' Pipe Band, a non-profit organization, plans to perform in Scotland next summer and fund-raising events such as this ball are extremely important. The band extends its sincere thanks to all those who made the ball the success that it was, and looks forward to seeing you at next year's annual
