

ABOUT THE HILLS

Quiet Hallowe'en

Friday night three juveniles managed to cover 30 ground floor windows at Acton high school with liberal amounts of soap. However, they didn't finish their cleaning job, leaving the soapy windows to school staff. Staff sergeant Les Graham said Halton police are investigating the prank and that, otherwise, it was a quiet Hallowe'en in Halton Hills.

Baldry blues

Long John Baldry, "the King of Rhythm and Blues" - in concert at 8 p.m. Friday at the John Elliott Theatre. Tickets reserved $8.50, at door $10. Available through the town recreation department.

Ontario Scholar

Several names were inadvertently omitted on the Georgetown high school commencement programme provided to The Herald last week. Among them was that of Ontario Scholar Michael Peirce of Georgetown, who earned his entry into the University of Toronto this year by cramming five years of studies into four. Any other students not listed in the programme are invited to call The Herald.

The big bazaar

Baking, sewing, crafts, white elephant articles, penny items and much more will all be featured at the third annual Christmas bazaar being held by the ladies of the Order of the Royal Purple (Halton Hills 356). Find all the stocking stuffers you need, plus some fine gifts, and win prizes in variety of draws. It all happens Nov. 6 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Elks Hall on Mountainview Road North in Georgetown. Come on out and help the Order help others in our community.

Mimelight joins fun

Mime-light, one of the performances in the Georgetown University Women's Club's Super Sunday Series, is now part of the library-cultural centre's first anniversary celebrations. A rather unique production, Mime-light will be performed Sunday. While the first show is sold out, there are still tickets available. Call 877-7894 or 877-6414 for further information.

'Fall Happening'

If your child's never had the chance to sit at a potter's wheel and mold his own cup or bowl, Charis Pottery on Main Street in Glen Williams offers the opportunity Nov. 20 and 21 at its "Fall Happening". Grace McKnight invites you to bring the whole family and enjoy the studio atmosphere over some hot mulled cider while browsing for that special Christmas gift. Times for both days are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

OPP reunion

Ontario Provincial Policemen who formerly served in Acton and Milton were reunited recently at a dinner dance in the Milton Optimist Hall. District Commander Superintendent R.J. Crowley greeted 150 members and their wives from across the province.

Some special guests

Sick List: Theresa Harrison, Anne Collins and Sam Gisy, all in Georgetown.

Entertainment: Remembrance Dinner and Dance Nov. 6. Tickets on sale at the bar. The Ladies Auxiliary are going to Orangeville Raceway Nov. 4. Phone Mary at 877-2163 for tickets, Nov. 12 is Pub Nite with all local talent. Nov. 19 is fish and chip nite with the Touch of Silver entertaining.

Air Cadet Dinner and Dance winners were: W. Woods, D. O'Connell - $10, G. Louth Sr. - $50 and A. McManniss - $100.

Thanks to those who attended the Hallowe'en Dance for making it such a success. Special thanks to Norma and Art Lawrence and Michael Ball for cutting up the pumpkins and the two cowboys behind the bar.

Thanks to House Chairman Bob Waites, Art Cousins, Shell Lawr, Gib and Allen Telford and Hank for a job well done on the club room floor.

The Pipe Band is looking for new members. Practice at the Harrison School Tuesday nights.

Poppy Chairman Ernie Peisey is still after volunteers to help canvas Nov. 4, 5 and 6.

Remembrance Parade at Glen Williams at noon and at Georgetown at 1:30 Nov. 7. We hope all Legion members will attend.

Special guests for the parade include a marching unit from The Royal Netherlands Marine Vets Association. All organizations are invited to join us on this day of remembrance. "They served till death! Why not us?"

History of Branch 120 The spring of 1940 saw the annual meeting held March 28 with J.F. McCartney returned as president, an office he was to hold for four years. R. Learmonth and H. Harlow were vice presidents.

That spring of 1940 saw a number of members enlisting. The first recorded in the minutes was that of G.O. Brown who resigned as treasurer June 27 to join the Vets' Guard.

During that year donations were made to all war service funds, and an important part was played in that summer's Victory Loan drive.

The years of the second world war were devoted to the various war services with the Branch being active in any and all of them. The Lorne Scots regiment received cigarettes from them. During this period, many members saw their sons and other members of their families go to war, many of them not to return, and it was indeed a difficult and terrible period for those, who from experience in an earlier conflict, knew at first hand of the terrible loneliness as well as physical dangers their own flesh and blood would face.

It seemed as if all the members were touched in some way by relatives joining the colours. A very real effort was made that year with over $500 in parcels and funds for overseas vets raised.

SHAZAM!

Comedian and magician Ron Oliver geared his tricks and magic acts not just to the youngster in the audience Sunday at the John Elliott Theatre. The University Women's Club Super Sunday series performance utilized a number of adult "volunteers" to help him display his talents. Here, Ron tries to escape from chains and locks on his wrists while being helped by a member of the audience.

HALTON HILLS ARTS COUNCIL

November seems to be the ideal month to visit the library-cultural centre.

Nov. 1 is the beginning of week-long celebrations in the John Elliott Theatre to mark the first anniversary of the centre. The subtitle of this extravaganza is "Something for Everyone" and there really is.

For the children there are productions of "Rumpelstiltskin" and "Dick Whittington and His Cat". Adults get their chance to enjoy the folk group Brigand and Long John Baldry, the King of Rhythm and Blues, as well as "An Evening of Song and Music" featuring Cantante Singers, Georgetown Girls Pipe Band and others.

There is more fun for all when the schools take over and do their own thing. Perhaps the most fun of all will be the two Amateur Nights. We will get a chance to see how much hidden talent there is in Georgetown and just how much of it should have stayed hidden. For information about times and tickets, call 877-5185 ext. 19 (Acton) or 60 and 67 (Georgetown).

Following this week long gala into the Elliott will be the Nov. 7 production of "Mimelight" sponsored by the University Women's Club, call 877-8294 for information.

The final November highlight in the theatre will be the Georgetown District High School's presentation of "Guys and Dolls", Nov. 19-20 and 26-27. For tickets, call 877-6966.

While all these things are going on in the theatre, the Cultural Centre Gallery will be featuring, Nov. 1 to 27 a joint exhibition of paintings by two of Halton Hills fine artists, Gretchen Hamilton Day and Reginald A. Finlayson.

The third partner, the library, is of course busy as usual providing their usual fine service to the community. Some of the children's programs available include Storytime for Pre-schoolers, for three-years old and up; Tales for Twos, adult accompaniment; Railway Day, for school age children and Animals, Animals Everywhere also for school-age children. For information, call 877-2681.

The library does not confine itself to the younger generation. There are also programs for those of us, who are over four feet tall. The free Friday Night Film Fest continues. November films will be of interest to those of us who are armchair travellers

GDHS class picks its pres

Herald Special
It was an election full of card-stacking, some name-calling, a few empty promises and a conspiracy. In other words, it was a success. Results from the propaganda campaign held by Georgetown District High School's Grade 13 communications media class were in a week ago Monday and the winners are: President - Chris Cunningham, Vice President - Renee Veuhoff and Social Convener - Gerry Milne. The purpose of the campaign was to allow the students to experience an election and its "realities", experiment with the different uses of propaganda, practise building an image of a candidate and to discover the characteristics possessed by a successful candidate. Straightforwardness in the campaign, honesty, and a realistic addressing of the issues paid off for the successful candidates. Although most of the candidates made very realistic promises, according to Mr. Lecking, who teaches the class, some, such as the freedom of students to come and go as they please, and Grade 13 textbooks being paid for by the school board, are not likely to be implemented.
