

POOLING THEIR EFFORTS

Have you ever noticed how UNICEF cards and children have two things in common? They are small in size and big in hope. When UNICEF brings food, medicine and education programs to the world's most needy children, it brings hope for better lives; and children are the hope of the world. For UNICEF's 1982 free color brochure and details of sales locations, contact: Georgetown Y t 877-6163.

Program aided

A special life skills program which is serving five severely handicapped area residents through the North Halton Association for the Mentally Retarded came under government subsidy Nov. 1. Staffing and other program costs were recently approved, although the Association must still provide $400 to continue the program through this year.

Books and hand-made goods make great presents. They've been partnered up since Thanksgiving under one roof in Georgetown. Two former owners of the now defunct Mill Street Hot Bed store, Judi Starkey and Cheryl Potosky, and former Hot Bed employee Ann Middleton (left) have set up a corner full of crafts at Norm Holt's Oxbox Books on Main Street. The Craft Cupboard will be operating from the popular bookstore until January, when the owners will consider opening shop elsewhere if it's feasible.

VINCE WHELAN

BELIEVES REGIONAL GOVERNMENT IS BIG BUSINESS AND IT MUST BE RUN ACCORDINGLY

- The current Regional Council increased our taxes by 98%
- The previous Council created a deficit of 1.1 million dollars - still not adequately explained.
- The proposed budget cuts could mean less Police Protection, less Teachers, less snow-clearing and services for Acton.

The people of Acton both need and deserve sound representation. Vince Whelan has the ability, the knowledge, the energy, and the proven dedication to bring the Community's needs before the Region for Positive Action.

On Nov. 8th - Your VOTE is Your VOICE
