

THE ELEVENTH HOUR

While parades honoring the thousands of Canadians killed in action during two world wars and in Korea were held last Sunday, Remembrance Day itself fell on a Thursday this year. And, in a tradition recognized for almost 65 years, vets around the country passed at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month. Laying a wreath on behalf of Georgetown Legion Branch 120 were (left to right) second vice president Ernie Peasey, president Norm Ward and first vice president Gib Telford. The brief ceremony took place at the Georgetown cenotaph in Remembrance Park on James Street.

Legion says thanks

To the editor of The Herald:
I would like to take this opportunity on behalf of Branch 120, Royal Canadian Legion, to thank all who took part in our Remembrance Day parades and services Nov. 7.

A special thank you to the Netherlands Marine Corps veterans, who helped swell our ranks this year. You were a credit to your organization and the fact that many of you travelled long distances from other parts of the province proves that you also "Remember Them".

The size of the turnout, both in Georgetown and Glen Williams, is proof that this community has not forgotten the sacrifices made to secure the freedom we all enjoy today.

Norman Ward,
President, Branch 120,
RCL

HOW WIDELY-READ IS THE HERALD?

Danish class questions article

To the editor of The Herald:
We are a group of pupils from a Danish "Gymnasium" (i.e. secondary school) who would like to comment upon the article, "Looking American 'in' for Danes", from your July 14 issue.

After having discussed the text in some of our English classes we have decided to send this letter to the editor, because we think that the Canadian girl, (exchange student) Barbara Treviranus, claims several facts which we definitely do not agree with, and which in some cases, are manifest misunderstandings.

Barb says that we don't have any exams or tests, but we do. In fact, they're compulsory in the Danish school system (as can be seen by consulting the Danish laws of education). We have exams once a year, a varying number of tests through the year and in the last year two extra comprehensive tests, one in November and one in February.

Each class is 45, not 40 minutes, as claimed by Barb. In the article she says that there is a lot of group work. This, however, varies from school to school. At our school we don't use it that much, so it's hard to say in general whether group work is that predominant.

Perhaps we do have a more social attitude towards the slowest member of the class, but there still is quite a bit of competition between pupils.

As for the question of sports versus politics: we think that the pupils of the gymnasium Barb frequented were very politically involved, compared to most other gymnasiums. At most, sports clubs and activities are preferred to political ones. Very few pupils are members of political parties.

Concerning the question of Canada being like Siberia; we would like to mention that Canada has in fact got quite a bit in common with Siberia - geographically speaking (latitude) - both being vast countries with enormous variation. Canada is divided into provincial districts - roughly the size of U.S. states, so this misunderstanding was perhaps forgivable. The real stupid question is the one about Ronald Reagan being your president - unforgivable! But how about looking the other way round?

A few of us have visited either Canada or the U.S. and have been asked if Denmark was the capital of Sweden! There seems to be a balance in the mutual misunderstandings!

We should also like to explain a few things about the attitude towards the U.S. and Canada. Barb said in the article that looking American was the "in" thing for Danish teenagers, although she also felt quite a bit of resentment towards America. It is true that our society is heavily influenced by the "American way of life" - "imported" the fast-food establishments, and it's almost impossible not to run into American fashion in our shops, blue jeans, sweatshirts, T-shirts, etc. Still, the resentment is felt and shown by the people who are indignant about the wastefulness and critical of what they see as mindless consumerism.

Korean pen pals

To the editor of The Herald:
It is my great pleasure to write to you. I hope you will be pleased to accept my appeal regarding pen pals.

I am an English teacher in a noted high school in Pusan, Korea. This school has about 2,500 students of both sexes. I am eagerly seeking students who would like to correspond with our students.

There are many Korean students who want to exchange letters and friendship with foreign pen friends and they frequently request me to try to arrange an exchange of addresses of Canadian students.

Throughout my foreign language teaching career, I notice this not only helps their English and emotional life but also expands their knowledge of foreign lands. This would also promote world wide friendship and mutual relationship as well as serving as a true foundation of world peace.

I feel it is necessary to publish this wish among the boys and girls of the world, therefore, I courtously request you to run this letter in your valuable paper.

I will appreciate it very much if you let me have the chance to do this for my students. This would be a warm and thoughtful favor.

Sincerely yours,
Mr. Yang Moo Seok,
P.O. Box 339,
Pusan city, 600
Korea.

Terry Fox Runners raised $2,500 here

To the editor of The Herald:
The Canadian Cancer Society, Georgetown Unit, would like to take this opportunity to thank the citizens of Georgetown for their participation in the Terry Fox Marathon of Hope. The annual run was held on September 19th at the Fairgrounds. One hundred and fifty men, women and children ran, walked or jogged to raise $2,500 for cancer research.

The Society would like to extend special thanks to the business people of Georgetown for their generous donations which helped make the Marathon of Hope a success. The students of Georgetown District High School should be commended for their enthusiasm and the force with which they turned out. We would also like to thank Mrs. Pat Powers, who chaired this year's campaign; Mr. and Mrs. C. Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. C. McEwen and Mr. and Mrs. Piqueras, whose hard work made every one's job easier.

Many thanks to everyone who cared and donated their time and energy for a worthy cause. We hope to see you all there next year!

Yours Truly,
Mrs. Mona Wright,
Publicity Co-ordinator
Canadian Cancer Society

Anti-nuke success recounted

To the editor of The Herald:
Congrats to Halton Hills voters for their strong support of global nuclear disarmament, and thanks to the many churches, clubs and individuals who supported the "Vote Yes" campaign.

We are delighted to report that about $500 was raised in excess of campaign expenses, which included full-page ads in all three local papers. This extra money will all be sent to Operation Dismantle in Ottawa, which spearheaded the referendum idea, and which will now promote Canada's lobby at the U.N. for worldwide referenda on disarmament.

Special thanks also to The Herald for its generous coverage of the referendum campaign over the past few months. We much appreciated your genuine interest in this community effort.

Canada-wide referenda have shown that there is overwhelming grassroots support for disarmament, and for every action our politicians can take to promote it. It was also heartening to see the picture in Monday's Toronto Star of anti-nuclear demonstrators in Red Square, Moscow.

Copies of our full-page "Vote Yes" ad are now being mailed to Ottawa, the U.N., Washington, Moscow and to other world leaders. Probably they will have the impact of a snowflake, but put enough snowflakes together and the roof caves in! Massive expressions of public outrage have moved governments in the past. Let us pray that we will live to see it happen on this issue.

Jim Stark of Operation Dismantle says "Each of us should work for disarmament as if our life depended on it - for it probably does!"

Letters to the Editor

Politics shut firm, not economy

To the editor of The Herald:
I read with interest your account in the Nov. 10 issue of The Herald the plans of the new tenant of the "Irwin-Dorsey building" on Guelph Street.

The last paragraph of the story will mean little, I presume, to your readers with the exception of the former employees of Irwin-Dorsey Limited. Their company did not cease operation "...when Irwin-Dorsey's parent firm closed the plant in the midst of economic troubles".

In fact, a check with your editorial page of the same date will show in your Halton's History column under the heading of "ONE YEAR AGO" the following more accurate statement: "...Dissolution comes six years after Irwin-Dorsey started wrangling with the federal government's Foreign Investment Review Agency (FIRA), which was called in to investigate Dow Jones' take-over of the Georgetown subsidiary from its original owner, also an American company."

Our former employees had done a magnificent job through the years to help Irwin-Dorsey Limited become the number one publisher in Canada in terms of its service and distribution to its academic audience.

The "troubles" which Irwin-Dorsey had were political, not economic.

Respectfully yours,
Dick Willis,
former president,
Irwin-Dorsey Limited
