Turkey dinner enjoyed by 400

By KAY WILSON
Herald Correspondent

Norval Presbyterian Church ladies plan to make their popular turkey dinner an annual event following the success of last Wednesday's feast, when 400 customers sat down to supper. Church organist Gerry Murphy and pianist Fiona Heaton provided the dinner music.

Nanny's Knee-die, formerly Driftwood, has opened in Norval. Proprietor Barb Hurrelbrink, along with husband and young son, have renovated and decorated the old home to specialize in hand-made toys and Christmas decorations.

Baby's wear, apple dolls, bread dough plaques and needlecraft are also on sale.

Agricultural missionary Lee Holland shared some of his 15 years' experience in Zambia (formerly northern Rhodesia) with Norval United Church members and friends Sunday. While tractors are great, he noted, the unavailability of repair parts mean a team of oxen are still preferable.

Most people live in the rural areas, Mr. Holland said, where soya beans are the main protein food. Cotton and peanuts are also grown and families are being educated about nutrition.

Proceeding the mission talk was a turkey dinner for 100, convened by Marilyn Smith and Phyllis Moffat.

Sympathy is extended to Joy Laird of Norval and

Mrs. Joe (Marie) Harris of Wasaga on the death of their brother, Harland Laird, who passed away in Peel Memorial Hospital Nov. 8.

Pinegrove Community Club had seven euchre tables in play last Monday night. Winners were Marie Murray and Eileen Jackson (pink card), Prairie Biasey and George Burt (white card) and Eunice Wilson (lucky draw courtesy of Webb's Flowers).

Winners at Norval Community Centre last Thursday night were Ethel Brownridge and Elizabeth Wallace (pink cards), Marie Murray and John Hunter (white cards), Isabel Laundry (lone hand), Ida Switzer (lucky draw, courtesy Webb's Flowers) and Eva Presswood, Mae Tost and Jean Cunningham made up the lunch committee.

Betty Johnson chaired the overall meeting of the Norval United Church ladies last Wednesday night, which featured a devotional about Remembrance Day by Deanna Cleave. Col-Craft proprietor Gail Collett demonstrated the art of making Christmas decorations.

Three village babies baptised

By Mrs. JOHN BELLBODDY

Now, we are into dark and dreary days. We don't mind December: there's the excitement of Christmas coming to keep one going.

Even January and February aren't too bad because at least we are on the way towards spring, but the month of November is hopeless.

Ashgrove Women's Institute held their euchre Nov. 6 in Stewarttown

Hall with 12 tables in play. Winners were: ladies: Gertrude McGee; men's: Jim Carney, Ken Ellis, tied were Thelma Wilkinson and Muriel McClure, Lucky draws Ida Carton, Velma Ella, Sam McClure, Flora Ruddle, Bob Alexander, Ruth Cox.

Sympathy is extended to John McNabb, his brothers Angus and Fraser and their families in the death of their brother Donald. When the four boys with their parents farmed on the Eighth Line they were good neighbors, always ready to give help when needed, but times have changed and neighborliness is not the same today.

Sunday morning three more babies were baptized - Ashley Blair Jay, Melinda Catherine Josie, Scott Kenneth Douglas Neelands. The latter two are grandchildren of Johnson and Donelda Neelands.

Another of our good staunch pioneers has passed away this past week in the person of Clayton Wilson. Our deepest sympathy to his wife Edna and his two sons and daughter Bernice and all the Wilson relatives.

Youth aid top concern for IODE

Assisting young people in furthering their education, a prime concern of the IODE, was the topic for discussion at the local Countess of Strathmore chapter meeting Oct. 11 at the home of Hazel MacMillan.

Several well-known people who had received IODE bursaries and scholarships in their youth were recalled when education secretary Mitchell of IODE headquarters in Burlington attended the meeting as guest speaker.

Since Labrador is Mrs. Mitchell's favorite project, the Chapter was able to gain useful information on providing assistance for its own adopted school in Labrador.

The meeting also included Doris Barber's synopsis of the start of this season's progressive bridge and the viewing of hand-knitted layettes to which all members had contributed. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. MacMillan, Hilda Penrice and Irene Farnell.

Lorne Scots name chief

Lieutenant Colonel Arthur Kemp was announced the new Honorary colonel of the Lorne Scots regiment last week.

During World War 2, Col. Kemp served in England, Belgium and France and received the 1939-45 star, the France-Germany Star, the defence medal, the Canadian volunteer Service medal and clasp and the Victory medal. He was also awarded the Canadian Forces Decoration and in 1967 the Centennial medal.
