the town clerk, his appointee and anyone else appointed by the judge may attend the recount.

Judge Carnwath made four affidavits submitted his decision following a review of allegations in council candidate Akers.

'Wintergraphs' Dec. 3

"Wintergraphs", an exhibition of paintings, prints, banners and drawings by Debbie Winter, opens Dec. 3 in the gallery of the Halton Hills Library-Cultural Centre. The show continues through Dec. 31.

Lawyer David Page of Georgetown, representing Mr. Akers, said the affidavits indicated there was no consistent policy for rejecting spoiled ballots.

Mr. Page added that the affidavits also indicated there was no uniformity in the method of counting ballots and that in some cases scrutineers were keeping the official count rather than the deputy returning officer.

"The evidence was sufficient to indicate recount," Mr. Page said.

According to the original polling results, automobile sales representative Phil Carney received 1,213 votes, real estate manager Finn Poulstrup 1,228 votes and Mr. Akers 1,175 votes.

"Talking to other candidates, even they said there was some confusion in counting the ballots," Mr. Akers said. "I don't want to sound like a poor loser and I didn't want to make a big to-do about it, but I think I owed it to the people."
