

Norval WI helps Good Neighbors and ARC

By KAY WILSON
Herald Correspondent
Norval Womens Institute held their Christmas meeting at the home of Marguerite Hunter Thursday evening.
Dorothy McLean presided with 17 members and six visitors. Donations were made to several charities including the Good Neighbor Service in Georgetown headed by Roma Timpson, and the A.R.C. Industries at Hornby. Roll call was "What I like Best about Christmas". One suggestion from a visitor was having a birthday cake complete with candles in honor of Jesus' birthday.

The program featured the Norval Teen Choir,

"Forever One", with Terry Laidlaw as leader of 13 members. They sang carols and songs, and led in group singing. Don Crawford added to the program with two recitations, "Twas the Night Before Christmas" and the "Touch of the Master's Hand".

Anne Wilson thanked the Teen choir and presented Terry with a token of appreciation.

Santa Claus arrived and presented everyone with a gift which helped to lend a festive air.

Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Eunice Wilson, Jean May, Grace Crawford, and Mae Cleave.
The Friendship Group of Norval United Church entertained the Unit 2 Group at the home of Jean Sterritt Dec. 1, with a buffet dinner. Carol singing and Christmas readings made up the program for the evening.

Janet Johnson, daughter of Paul and Betty Johnson has completed her two-year teaching mission in Zimbabwe. In a phone call home Sunday, she said she expects to leave with a teacher friend, on a four month trip around the world, before returning home.

The White Gift Service at Norval United Church was taken by the Sunday School pupils on Sunday last. Kathy Kirby gave the call to worship, and Mark Campbell read the scripture. Susan Campbell was the narrator for the Story presentation - "What Child is This"? Beautiful Christmas carols interspersed the service.

Get well wishes to Bonnie McFarlane who is in St. John's Convalescent Home following surgery at Sunnybrook Hospital. Bonnie hopes to be home soon.

AHS' yearbook sums it all up

Student sales underway

By CHRIS LAITAR
AHS student

The Yearbook is one of the many extracurricular clubs offered at Acton District High School. Any student, in any grade, can join the Yearbook Club.
The Yearbook is a record of the people, events and activities that take place during the school year. These are most appreciated when the book is looked at several years after the student is out of school. The Yearbook itself is something that can show the community, who supports the Yearbook, what is done with their donations.
For the people who actually work on the Yearbook it provides a chance to learn many skills to be used in future life. Students learn to co-operate with others, learn to meet deadlines, have responsibilities with the community and learn the composition of a yearbook which can later be applied to other types of publications.
The Yearbook Club is also a place to turn when a student wants a change from the regular school day.
The Yearbook itself is run by its members. Any major decisions are agreed upon by students under the supervision of the student editor. Mr. Ellis and Mrs. Marsh are two staff members who are advisors and whose job it is to ensure that the book is run in a fair and efficient way.
The Yearbook Club has many ideas in the planning to help raise money.
When this is printed the Yearbook will be selling tickets for a raffle to win one of two collector plates by a local artist. The winner will be drawn December 22nd of this year.
The students who join the Yearbook Club have the chance to learn a lot and have fun at the same time. For further information about the Yearbook, please contact Mr. Ellis or Mrs. Marsh at the High School: 853-2820.
