

GDHS Midgets lose

By PAM DOUGLAS
Herald Correspondent
Last Friday the Rebel midget boys' basketball team lost to Oakville Trafalgar 39-30.

The midgets played very poorly, said coach Leeking. O.T. made a lot of shots and the Rebels couldn't get through their strong zone defense.

It was a disappointing loss for the team who had hoped to go into the Christmas break with a 3-0 record, said coach Leeking.

However, the Rebels bounced back to win the tournament held in Midland on the weekend.

They won the first game against Barrie's Eastview High School 41-28. It was a good game for the team because everyone got to play, and it was good to get a victory after Friday's loss, said the coach.

The team then won their second game against a team from Innesdale 39-38.

Their third game, the tournament championship, was anybody's game up to the last. Georgetown and their opponent, Barrie North High School, traded points throughout most of the first half.

However, Georgetown slipped down just before half-time. They were down eight points. North was up ten points by the end of the third quarter.

Georgetown went down six points with a minute and a half to go. With 20 seconds left in the game, Georgetown was only down one point.

They ran a special play that they had practiced and Pat Braund shot with six seconds left to go, giving the Rebels their 61-60 victory.

Pat Braund's play was outstanding, said coach Leeking. He averaged 20 points for the three games played. Lou Depaul averaged 12 points during the tournament and he also played well defensively, covering the toughest player on the other team.

The Junior Rebel's boys' basketball team ousted Oakville Trafalgar last Friday and then went on to win the consolation finals at a tournament in Burlington on the weekend.

Friday's game against O.T. was won by the Rebels 45-35. High scorer for Georgetown was Glen McCaughy with 15 points.

The tournament, hosted by Assumption, was won by T.A. Blacklock who beat Assumption in the finals on Sunday.

On Saturday Georgetown lost their first game to St. Jerome's 48-39. "We could have beaten them, but we made a lot of mistakes and fell behind early in the game," said Rebel coach Wren.

Georgetown defeated Assention in their second game 48-24 which put them in the consolation finals against Cathedral.

The consolation finals were held on Sunday and Georgetown won 62-54. Dean Marks was high scorer for Georgetown with 38 points.

Barwell earns all-star berth

Georgetown Gemini defenceman Jay Barwell has been selected to join the Central Junior B League all-star team for the second annual Miracle tournament.

JAY BARWELL

Barwell was the only Gemini of a maximum three players allowed who made the all-star cut. The original 12 all-stars were selected from other Junior B Central League teams but the league team must have one player represented from each team.

Last season the Gemins were represented by Mike McMenemy, Chris Peavoy and Bob Dean, although the players spent much of their time riding the talent-laden bench.

The tournament is scheduled for Dec. 26 to Dec. 29 in Kitchener. All five Junior B leagues last year from the OHA competed, but this year teams from the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, the Ottawa District and the Thunder Bay Region will be represented.

The tournament champions will be the Ontario Representative to the Canada Winter Games.

The Miracle tournament is organized by the OHA and funded through business sponsors. Miracle Food Mart was the first original sponsor, but the OHA is seeking other support because Miracle had to cut back on the amount of their grant.

The Canada Winter Games will be held in Quebec in February.
