The final of this game ended up 2-2 with Alain Thibault netting the other Georgetown goal.
Steve Eastwood had more to do in three days than he has all year and he played up to the pressure very well. In fact the whole team handled the pressure very well.
A continuing comment among the spectators, friend and foe alike was the fact that this team did not once appear to give up. The boys gave it their all, unfortunately in this case the opposition was just a good deal better.

Minor Bantams in Ottawa tourney

During the holiday week the Georgetown Optimist Minor Bantams competed in the 1982 Ottawa International Hockey Tournament.
In their first game of the tournament the Optimists faced Sarnia. Goals by Jeff Amato from Rob Cooper and Stephen Fletcher, Mark Moody from Rory Kennedy, Craig Chantler unassisted, and Tim Bennett from Mark Zebedee and Mark Dunning gave the locals a quick 4-0 lead but over the course of the game Sarnia chipped away at the big margin, finally tying the score midway through the third period.

The score remained deadlocked and the game went into overtime. With 1:34 gone in the overtime a Sarnia forward stole the puck at the blue line and beat goalie Joe Balsom with a good low shot to beat Georgetown 5-4.

Despite losing a big lead the Optimists had numerous chances to win this game, particularly with two shots off the post during a second period powerplay and a break-away in overtime.

Next game was against Ottawa West and with one of their strongest team efforts of the year Georgetown skated away with a hard fought 3-2 victory.

The teams traded first period goals; Rob Cooper scoring for the locals from Jeff Amato. Then in the second period the turning point of the game occurred when Paul Smith "blasted" a ninety foot wrist shot past a startled Ottawa goalie.

The score was tied again, but then on a powerplay with six minutes remaining Terry Dixon lifted his own rebound into the net assisted by Rob Cooper and Tim Bennett.

From there solid defensive work and excellent team play allowed Georgetown to hold their lead. Greg Tuck was outstanding in the Georgetown net, time after time saving his teammates with excellent stops.

Still having a chance to advance, the Optimists next came up against the best team in the Ottawa region, the Nepean Raiders.

The Nepean team had also belittled our boys and the boys decided to repay the hospitality and allowed their hosts to skate away with an easy 4-1 victory.

The Optimists could not duplicate their effort of the previous day and were never really in this game. Only excellent goalkeeping by both Greg Tuck and Joe Balsom kept the game close.

The locals' only goal was a short-handed effort by Jeff Amato from Stephen Fletcher and Craig Chantler.

The Optimists enjoyed touring Ottawa and the excellent hospitality of their billets. They also played good competitive hockey against top level competition.

Hopefully the experience will help them to improve their play as they prepare for the playoffs.
