

Georgetown Minor Atoms edge past Brampton squad 2-1

Following the New Year's break the Georgetown Minor Atoms hosted Brampton Jan. 4. Adam Hills assisted by John Cruise opened the scoring at 0:40 of the first period. Brampton evened the score six minutes later, at 5:09 of the middle frame Brian Brooker assisted by Peter Lee and Brad Amato scored the winner. For the second half of the game Georgetown and Brampton traded rushes and scoring chances. Terry Metler in nets kept the home team ahead until the final buzzer. Final score, 2-1. The following week Oakville came to town and jumped to a three goal lead in the first period. Brad Amato stopped the tide in the middle frame followed by Steve Brown with assists going to John Cruise and Adam Hills. John Cruise with the help of Adam Hills evened the score at 3:09 of the third period. Brian Brooker assisted by Peter Lee put Georgetown ahead but Oakville evened the score at 12:30. Final score 4-4.

The next evening Georgetown travelled to Flamboro. The home team jumped ahead before Adam Hills evened the count. With two men short in the second period Jason Smith scored after narrowly missing seconds earlier.

Flamboro again evened the game eleven seconds later. Forty seconds later with one man short Jason Smith scored with assists going to John Cruise and John Jickling.

Steve Brown added another in the third period with the help of Sean Guistini. Final score 4-2 Georgetown.

Last Sunday Georgetown visited Ching and romped to a 6-1 victory. Adam Hills opened the scoring at 6:41 of the first period.

Adam added another at 2:40 of the second period assisted by Adam Hagen and John Jickling. At 4:01 Adam added another with the help of Steve Brown and John Cruise.

Ching then got on the scoreboard but Adam Hills assisted by Steve Brown scored his fourth goal of the game. John Cruise added another with an assist going to Adam Hagen. Peter Lee then added another with the help of Jason Smith and Duane Lewis before the final buzzer sounded.

Centennial 'Roll' Meadows girls for tourney first place

Centennial Public School started off their girls basketball season in outstanding style by winning the annual Rolling Meadows tournament last week.

after the tournament were chosen from Centennial. Georgetown won 32-16. Then Centennial went on to beat the host team, Rolling Meadows, 22-13.

In the first game against Frontenac, Georgetown won 32-16. Then Centennial went on to beat the host team, Rolling Meadows, 22-13.

The championship game was won 22-20 by Centennial over Frontenac. Top shooters for Centennial in the final game were Jenny Melville and Kim Daquano who both collected six points.

In addition, a majority of first team all-star picks after the tournament were chosen from Centennial.

St. Patrick's defeated Centennial narrowly 26-24 in a game that did not count for points leading to the finals.

Heather Dubuc (seen above) has to give up sleepovers to be a competitive Jills gymnast.

Heather Dubuc likes gym' competition

SPORTS EDITOR'S NOTE: In last Wednesday's sports section, page four, The Herald carried an article about Lisa Graham. The picture that went along with the story, however, was not that of Lisa Graham. We regret the error. The following is a story of Heather Dubuc, the gymnast whose picture was in last week's paper.

Ten-year-old Heather Dubuc is now in her second year of competitive gymnastics with the Jills.

She started gymnastics when she was four, but didn't practise routinely until she was seven when she signed up for beginner's gym.

Heather then joined the Jills pre-competitive group and moved up to the Jills competitive stream one year later.

The Limehouse resident has lived there since she was born. In her backyard the Dubuc's have a monkey bar set with two swings and a bar which Heather used to play with when she was younger.

Heather says her best routines are bars and floor, which she likes the best. She has attended gymnastics camp at the Rose Room in the summer.

Heather looks forward to competitions. Last April in Peterborough she collected two third place ribbons in the vault and bars at a pre-competitive invitational meet.

She is nervous at gymnastics competitions, but only before the first routine she does. In the annual Santa Claus parade cartwheels for cash this winter, Heather remembers she was able to squeeze water out of her gloves because the pavement was so wet!

Heather says she has to give up having sleepovers or going to other sleepovers because of her practising schedule with the Jills.

She also doesn't get to see her friends as much as she wants, but Heather says she has met some nice friends at the gymnastics club.

At Limehouse Public School

Heather likes Math, Spelling and French. For hobbies she prefers knitting, reading and watching T.V. Crochet is another hobby she would like to pursue in the future.

Also at school Heather is very involved with drama. She would like to be a professional gymnast and go to the Olympics. Jan. 29 is the date of the Jills' first qualifying meet.

CORRECTION
The picture here is of Jills gymnast Lisa Graham. A story last week incorrectly identified her.

Candy Co. Peewees oust Acton

By GARY LANE
Herald Special

The Candy Company Pee Wees defeated Acton in exhibition action Friday night to the tune of 7-4. The Georgetown Tier II's held a 2-1 first period advantage and then built a 5-2 second period edge.

Paul Howlett guarded the nets for the Candy-men while offensively Glenn Mulder had a pair of goals to go with an assist. Chris Bewley, Roger Alchin and Danny Lane each added a goal and an assist each with Wayne Snow and Kevin Roe counting markers also.

Assists went to Scott Lunn, Jim Lowry, Pat McCarthy and Frazer Dougal.

Saturday the team was in Schomberg to participate in the Sixth Annual Red and White Tournament. With John Stefan back in the nets the Candy Company met a strong checking club from Malton.

Entering the final period Georgetown found themselves behind 1-0 only to have Malton stretch the margin to 2-0 at the 2:35 mark.

With the teams each a man short, Roger Alchin found the twine with his shot from the blueline to put the Candy Makers back in contention. The assist went to Danny Lane and an exciting finish looked certain.

The Malton team had different intentions and less than a minute later scored again to destroy any Georgetown momentum. Final score Malton 3 and Georgetown 1.

Pat McCarthy was named player of the game for Georgetown and was presented with a special award.

North Halton curling

By JOAN SHAPCOTT
Herald Special

North Halton was the winner of the fourth event in the Halton-Peel this weekend. Our winners were Skip Al Dean, vice Doc Russell, second Bill Hunter and lead Dick Krouse.

The Halton-Peel started last week on Saturday and ran all week with teams being eliminated starting Monday. The finals were at Milton this past Saturday consisting of two games. Congratulations AJ.

The teams of Joan Mustard, Peggy Darmody and Alice Frazer were not as successful at the Rose Bowl in Brampton. North Halton was not to reach the finals this year but good curling was enjoyed by all.

The OCA Seagrams Mixed playdowns were finalized this weekend with Steve McDermot, Shirley McDermot, George Shapcott and Joan Shapcott winning after two games against Les Ashcroft, Peggy Darmody, Andy DiSebastano and
