Swing win 5-2 over Burlington.

Tier II Bantams gang up to win

By DEE BUTWELL

Herald Special
On January 27th, coach "Doc" Richardson, of the Dockery Plumbing Tier II Bantams, was presented with a welcome home present, which was a win to the tune of 5-2, over the Burlington Minors.

The Georgetown team put a strong effort collectively into this game, after being annoyed on the previous Saturday, when the opposition failed to show for the game, in Burlington.

"Turk" Chiovitti put the team ahead in the first frame, after a good pass from Jamie Spiller. The shots on net were even during this period. Burlington tied the score in the second frame, but then Mike Ross spurred on his teammates when he added a tally, assisted by Pat Braund, and Jeff McNiven.

Jamie Spiller advanced the visitor's score to number three, aided by "Turk" Chiovitti and J.D. Rogers, when the Burlington team was short-handed. Burlington then closed the gap, by scoring their second and last goal.

The third period saw the teamwork of Jeff McNiven, Jim Manning, and Mike Tyler score the fourth and fifth goals. Goalscorers were Mike Tyler, and Jeff McNiven; and assists were earned by Jim Manning (2), Jeff McNiven (1), and Mike Tyler (1).

Coach Wayne Reid, and Manager Mike Dockery acknowledged outstanding games were played by Jeff McNiven, Mike Tyler, and Jamie Spiller. Good checking by Neal White, and Craig Nicucci also helped to score a victory for the Dockery team.

Skiers spend $2.5 billion

too expensive - 17 per cent; lack of money - 9 per cent.

The majority of alpine participants (1.82 million) reside in cities of one million or more.

Cross-country skiers come mostly from smaller centres.

Skiers participate on the average between 5 and 13 times each season, for a potential of close to 50 million skier days.

These skiers generate an estimated 2.5 billion dollars into the Canadian economy each year ... about half this amount comes from spending at ski areas and surrounding municipalities and the rest on transportation, accommodation and equipment.

Almost half a billion dollars is spent each year by the recreational skier on equipment and fashion, in 2,500 retail outlets. $142 million was spent on alpine equipment last year in Canada; $151 million was spent on apparel and $74 million on cross-country equipment. Quebec represents the largest sales volume at $128 million.

It is estimated that each season another one quarter billion dollars are spent on lifts, lessons, food and entertainment at the ski areas.

Some $250 million is expended each season on travel to and from ski trails areas.

Additional million dollars are spent on long distance travel and lodging, ski charters to Europe, Western Canada and the U.S., and for real estate in winter homes, ski chalets, time sharing and condominiums.

There are over 600 identified ski operations in Canada ... in addition to parks, logging trails and untold miles of trails adjacent to lodges.

Canada's 8,000 certified instructors provide lessons to nearly one million skiers annually; nearly 8,000 patrollers keep them safe.

Just under $2 billion is the planned expenditure in the next five years in ski area and winter resort development in Canada.

There are 1,600 nordic ski instructors to help you to learn to cross-country ski; the sixteen divisions of the Canadian Ski Association are supported by 353 clubs and 58,700 members, many of whom emulate Steve Podborski, Ken Read, Pierre Harvey, Peter Judge, Steve Collins, Horst Hulau, Gerry Sorenson, Todd Brooker, Laurie Graham, and Shirley Firth.
