

MEMORABLE MEALS

By KAY WILSON
Herald Correspondent
Pinegrove Community Club met for their last meeting of the season at the showroom of Webb's Flowers, on Monday, March 28. Members browsed through the greenhouse with spring flowers and green plants in all types and colors. President Chester Early chaired the meeting and Gertrude McGee read the minutes. Readings were given by Ruth Thompson on Easter Memories which reminded us of the boardwalk at Sunnyside with a new Easter bonnet. The Little Red School House was read by Gertrude McGee, again reminding us that one teacher taught all eight grades, with the potbellied stove in the centre of the room. The president thanked all those who had helped with the meeting during the year, with a special thanks to the Webbs. Election of officers were as follows: President - Grace May; Vice President - Keith Webb; Sec. - Treas. - Gertrude McGee. Following the election of officers, card tables were set up and 21 members played euchre. Prize winners were - Grace May, Prairie Bessie, Vera Thatcher, Mac Alexander, Alan Harrop.

Lunch was served by the Webbs and Marie Murray, and Jean Harrop gave the courtesies. Get well wishes to Mrs. Kate Laidlaw who is spending some time in Peel Memorial Hospital, Brampton. A good congregation attended the Good Friday service at 7:30 p.m. in Huttonville church. Several members from the churches of Home, Norval and Huttonville assisted Rev. Ridley and Assistant Minister Martin Gorniss in the service, Clarence and Rose French; Gord and Rosie Laidlaw; Isabel Fraser; Dorothy Ostrander; Geven Laidlaw; Noreen Van Leeuwen; Shirley Abrams; Marion Patterson; Elaine Arsenault; Mrs. A Boucher; Mrs. J. Forest. The Forever One choir sang several selections during the service and Laurie Patten was organist for the hymns. Six young people were confirmed as members of Norval United Church at the Easter service on Sunday last: Linda Blair, Susan Campbell, Mark Campbell, David Cleave, Daryle Moffatt, and Dean Paul. Jack Crawford, chairman of the Session, presented each with a bible. A full congregation enjoyed the special music and partook of the communion service. Rev. Ridley took as his text "He is Going Before You into Galilee". Norval residents mourn the loss of yet another of their citizens, in the person of Stanley Eyre who passed away suddenly at his home on Wednesday, March 30. Following surgery for cataracts, he had been recuperating at home and took up wood-carving as a hobby. He was the son of the late Rev. Benjamin Eyre, former United Church minister at Hornby. He is survived by his wife Muriel Howden, three sons and one daughter Bruce, Murray and Tom, and Betty Anne East, also eight grandchildren. Funeral and committal service was held on Good Friday, April 1, at 11 a.m. from the McClure Jones Funeral Home, Georgetown. Sincere sympathy is extended to the family.

Early childhood general meeting

The Association for Early Childhood Education, Halton Branch will be holding an Annual General Meeting for their members and anyone interested on Thursday April 14. The meeting will be held at Wee Care Day Centre at 258 Commercial Street, Milton at 7:30 p.m. It's getting to be the end of the year again even though the new year has just begun. The Association closes their books at the end of April and at this time a new executive will be chosen. The refreshments are wine and cheese for the evening. Come out and support your Association.

Meals on Wheels

Anniversary celebration

By CHRIS Aagaard
Herald Staff Writer
Last year, the North Halton Meals on Wheels organization doled out 4,300 hearty dinners to grateful residents unable to cook for themselves. In recognition of the organization's efforts, its executive invited Meals on Wheels volunteers to a special anniversary dinner last Tuesday night.

It's been eight years since the Meals on Wheels chapter in the area blossomed after a group of service club representatives got together. The first meals were made at the Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital; but as the demand for service grew, meal preparation moved to Milton's Centennial Manor for senior citizens. "Our clients are mostly referred to us by doctors and public health nurses," Meals on Wheels board of directors chairman Ruth Poulos said. "Meal recipients are carefully screened for diet requirements, accommodating people who need special meals."

WEEK-LONG
Many recipients get meals five times a week and the organization is planning a seven-day program. Meals are generally delivered between noon and 1 p.m. When they arrive, clients sit down to soup, meat and vegetables, bread and dessert. Seniors, Mrs. Poulos noted, often find the meals large enough to split into two portions, saving the balance for supper. Volunteers may each spend an hour a week making sure that the meals arrive on time and fresh. Meals are driven up from Centennial Manor and, at various rendezvous points, are divided into cars. In each car, the driver is accompanied by a "runner" who does the "legwork" of bringing the meal to the door. Coleman coolers keep the cold items cold and the warm items hot in the hour it takes to deliver 10 meals. CARING

"The volunteers are very caring people," Mrs. Poulos said. "It's nice to for seniors to know that someone is coming who cares about them." Without sacrificing the quality of the food, Meals on Wheels tries to keep the costs of meals down. No one is turned down because they can't pay for their meals, but there are clients who can afford the service. If you would like more information on the Meals on Wheels program, call the Contact Centre at 877-1211 or call Norah Vilkauskas, 877-2634.
