Busy week

Things were quiet over Easter but, we are winding down our season and curlers have been busy again this week.

The Ladies Thursday night draw was concluded March 31. Points were carried by each player as they were on different teams every week. Finishing first with top points were skip Agnes Park, vice Ellen Burns, second Mary Wands and lead Linda Veltman. Second was skip Joan Mustard, vice Gert McGee, second Pat MacLeod and lead Jan Ferguson. The Tuesday night draw will be concluded this week.

The Ladies competitive held their playoff day last Tuesday. Winning the 'A' section and presented with the Rene Holme Trophy was the team of Joan Shapcott, Julie White, Carroll Evans and Eva Bradley. They were also presented with the Taylor award for finishing on top for the year. Runners up in the A section and awarded the Irene Currie Trophy were Joan Mustard, Jane Burrows, Ellen Burns and Marilyn Micklethwaite.

Winners of the B section were Joan Trimble, Lena Burns, Kathy Burt and Catharine Hodgson. Runners up were Barb Crane, Bea Embling, Dot Burgess and Pat Norris.

The Business Girls concluded their final draw and finishing first was Karin Henderson, Marilyn Micklethwaite, Lynne Jefferson and Mary Anne DeSebastiano. Second was Peggy Darmody, Cathy Perego, Lois Massey and Marie Stone. Third was Shirley Rae, Jane Burrows, Liz Wise and Dot Burgess.

A few of our ladies were also on the bonspiel circuit this past week as well. Alice Frazer and her team of Ellen Burns, Bev Eastwood and Doris DeHueck went to a two-day competition at Chinguacousy where they won the main event consolation.

Shirley McDermot, Shirley Rae, Lois Massey and Mary Black were at Avonlea Ladies "Late Bloomers" bonspiel along with Joan Shapcott, Gert McGee, Carroll Evans, Eva Bradley and Theresa Smith (Gert and Carroll each played one day). Shirley's team made it to the finals of the Miriam Walker Trophy event where they played a team from Kingston and were defeated.

Joan Shapcott's team made it to the finals of the fourth event where they played Unionville and won, receiving the Lou Detsky Trophy. Congratulations to all our winners.

The Thursday Mixed competitive playoffs were concluded last week and winners of the Makovnyck Trophy were Wayne Taylor, Jim Lusby, Liz Wise, Doug Collison and Nancy Shannon.

Winning the Men's Competitive playoffs were Steve McDermot, Mike Makovnyck, George Shapcott and Jack Massey. Second were George Wild, Bruce White, Ron Perego and Tony DeHueck.

The Cornellus got underway this weekend and will run all week with the finals on Saturday.

A reminder to the Ladies about our closing annual meeting Tuesday, April 19 at 9:30 a.m.

GDHS hosts

Georgetown District High School hosted the East Halton Badminton Tournament Thursday with seven schools battling for a spot at the Halton Championships.

GDHS qualified 12 of their 16 entries for the Haltons, to be held at GDHS tomorrow.

John Scott and Mike Mitchell were outstanding in the boys doubles and Geordie Adams and Michelle Mlehm in mixed doubles. All four will be competing at the Haltons.

Stars on Cup trail

The Timmins North Stars are one series victory away from the Canadian Intermediate 'A' hockey championship and the Hardy Cup.

The North Stars, who last year were derailed on their route to the cup by the Georgetown Raiders, have defeated Charlottetown three games to one to win the Eastern Canadian title, and now are awaiting a western winner and a final showdown.

Everyone in the Raider organization had looked forward to a Georgetown-Timmins rematch in the Hardy Cup playoffs this year but the Collingwood Shipbuilders crossed things up when they knocked the defending champs out in five games.

Timmins, representing the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, then brushed Collingwood aside in two straight games, by scores of 7-4 and 7-3.

CHEQUING CANCER

Georgetown Industrial Hockey League president Don Fendley presents a cheque to Cancer Society treasurer Ted Gorth. The money came from the International hockey exhibition at Gordon Alcott Arena last week, between the GIHL all-stars and a second-division team from Finland. The total donation was for $276.

Cap snipers shock Trojans

The underdog Capricornus shocked the regular season champion Trojans, 74-33, in the opening game of the Georgetown Ladies Basketball League final series Wednesday night at Centennial Middle School.

Lorraine Brown led a balanced scoring attack that swamped the first-place Trojans, with 15 points. Anita Stankus and Irene McCauley both hit for 14 points, and Corinne Bulsman and Barb Curry tacked up 10 points a-piece.

Sue Tesar was high scorer for the Trojans, bagging 14 points. Leslie Ashton and Sandra Cousens connected for six apiece in a losing cause.

The Capricornus, who were second-best behind the Trojans over the regular schedule, now need just one victory to claim the best-of-three series and the league championship.

In the consolation round, Sam Reid bagged 24 points to lead the Centaurs past the Mustangs, 72-59.

Leslie Durham contributed 21 points to the victory, and Melanie Wiggins chipped in 10 more.

Sky Sapinski paced the Mustang attack with 18 points, while Hermania Henderson hit for 14 points. Wendy Forsyth added 10 points to the Mustang attack.

SIGN-UPS

Nine-year old Aaron Ferguson of Hornby shelled out his $18 last week to join the Pineview Soccer Club. Aaron, who will be an atom this year, joins about 170 other area youngsters who will begin play in the middle of May.

Local gals come close

Close only counts in horse shoes and hand grenades, as the Centennial Middle School Junior volleyball girls found out Tuesday night.

The Centennial girls came within a game of clinching the North Halton Junior Volleyball Championship Tournament with an unblemished record, but they lost in the final to Milton's Sam Sherratt School 15-7.

Centennial hosted eight teams to the championship tournament, and they swept through Park, Howard Wrigglesworth, St. Francis Assisi and Speyside to win the 'A' division.

Then, in a crossover semi-final against Joseph Gibbons School, they won again to advance to the final.

Sam Sherratt rose above Gibbons, Holy Cross and Acton's MacKenzie-Smith to take this 'B' division honors.
