THE PUPPETEERS

The Georgetown chapter of the Canadian Cancer Society were busily involved in a puppet show at Harrison Public School educating students about cancer. Featuring "Celly", four puppets told a story about the disease. The program was co-ordinated by Arlene Buckley. Puppeteers were: (left to right) Barb Lavole, Joan Jackson, Carroll Evans and Greta Lamb. Cathy Burt was the story announcer while Dee Butwell played the piano for the show.

Huntington's Disease crosses all boundaries

The fear of losing one's mind and the fear of losing control over one's body are among the most profound fears of mankind. Both losses occur in Huntington's Disease, a hereditary and terminal brain disorder that begins insidiously, usually in middle age.

Huntington's Disease crosses all age, sex, ethnic, national and economic boundaries. It is a family disease and every member of the family is affected emotionally, financially and socially.

The disease was once thought to be rare, but is now recognized as one of the more common hereditary disorders.

There is no reliable means of detecting the disease before symptoms appear. There is no effective treatment available and there is no known cure. Many disorders of the brain are genetic, neurologic or psychiatric. Huntington's Disease is all of these.

CANNOT DESCRIBE
Physical symptoms include uncontrollable jerking and twitching movements of the head, neck, arms and legs, as well as abnormalities of gait. Speech becomes slurred.

Patients commonly show a progressive mental deterioration and often become mentally depressed or show marked personality changes as the disease progresses.

'Forever One' choir took charge Sunday

By KAY WILSON
Herald Correspondent
A community shower was held for the Le May family on Wednesday evening last. Their mobile home was completely gutted by fire in Willow Park recently.

The shower was held in the United church when 40 friends and neighbors presented them with gifts of money and household items.

Lyn Le May, Janice and Wanda, wish to express their sincere "thanks to all who attended the evening given for us in the United church, or contributed in any way.

"Not only our friends, but total strangers have come forward. - We didn't know there were so many kind people", says Lyn.

Debbie Shoebridge and her mother Joanne Frost, headed up the evening, followed by a social hour.

Janet Johnson who recently returned home from Botswana, showed slides and gave a talk April 22 on her stay there.

Janet said she enjoyed her last two years but was glad to be back with family and friends and all the modern conveniences.

A pot luck dinner preceded the evening in the United church.

The "Forever One" choir took charge of last Sunday's United church service. Much credit is due these young people with Terry Laidlaw as leader.

Choir members are Tina Laroche, Jennifer Nixon, Carol Reid, Margaret Anne-Thuribeck, Mary Lou Laidlaw, Brenda Cleave, Linda Blair, Susan Campbell, Kathy Kirby, Don Crawford, Paul Robson, Wayne Laidlaw, Mark Campbell, Paul Carden.

Pinegrove Community club had seven tables on Monday last. Winners were Peggy Early, Jean Brander, Dunc McMillan, Keith Webb; Lucky draw Kay McMillan.

Norval Euchre had six tables on Thursday last. Winners were Eileen Jackson, Vivian Shaw, Ila Switzer, Marie Murray; Lone hands Keith Webb; Lucky Draw Helen Louth, Committee Elsie Jarvie.

The annual meeting of the Brampton West Institute was held in April at Huttonville United church.

Reports were given for the year prior to the pot luck lunch. Mrs. George Dixon installed the officers with president Lois Fraser, Sec-treas. Mrs. Jane Terry.
