

Solution to taxation inequities calls for implementing Section 63

Herald Special

The only way town council can sort out inequities in taxation between various sections of the municipality is to implement Section 63 of the Assessment Act and have market value assessment done on all properties, the town treasurer Ray King says.

In a written report to council on inequities in taxation within the town, Mr. King said he believes the present system of taxation and assessment produces many inequities not only in Acton but throughout the entire town.

Under existing legislation however, council's only way to truly even things out is to ask for reassessment under Section 63 which allows for market value assessment.

Mr. King's report resulted from a request by Acton Coun. Ross Knechtel on what alternatives council had to sort out inequities caused by the merger of the three original communities into the town of Halton Hills in 1974.
