

Soccer

Rule still a problem

First the corrections department. The youth soccer dance is on Friday, Sept. 23, and not Saturday, Sept. 24, as I penned last week. Tickets may be had from Judy Bailey, Julia Manning, Yvette Spiller and Klaus Zander. The evening will open with the Maple Lodge chicken barbecue and follow with the usual excellent dancing to the deejay.

Even at this late stage the four-step rule is causing some problems, not for the refs, but for the players. It is a nuisance to be asked during a game which you are officiating for an explanation. The explanation of the rules of the game is not the duty of the ref, particularly during a game.

Simply, the goalkeeper is allowed four steps within which he, or she, is allowed to clear the ball, without interference I may add, once control of the ball is made. Control of the ball is achieved once the keeper has the ball safely in hand and is stationary, ready to play the ball away. The goalie is allowed to bounce and catch the ball within the four steps and this action is not considered to be releasing the ball into play. When the goalie has released the ball, he is not allowed to pick it up again until it has been touched by another player. Releasing the ball into play does not mean bouncing the ball and recatching within the allowed four steps. It really is quite simple.

DIRTY PLAY

If a player deliberately attempts to injure a player by attacking him then surely that player deserves to be sent off the field by the referee. Should that be the third time in a game by the same offending player, I should not think there would be any doubt. I am, of course, referring to last Wednesday's Meteor White - Acton Villa clash at Cedarvale. With the ejection came three cautions for dissent, and the game quietened down again. The White parlayed some powerful soccer to gain a 6-0 victory. The second leg takes place in Acton this evening and should Acton win in regulation time then penalty kicks shall decide the Inter County semi-finalists.

Meanwhile, Brackens staged a spirited come back from 2-0 down at Meteor Blue to tie 2-2 in their first leg match. Earlier this season I said that Brackens were a better team than their results showed and they proved it in this game. I saw the second half and they thoroughly deserved the draw. This sets up this evening's match as a real decider to settle the other semi-finalist.

BUTCHER WINS

The third first-division match was a let down with Mariners crashing 4-1 to Butcher. After holding Butcher in earlier league games to one goal the Mariners were split wide open time and again in this encounter. A well-engineered opening goal by Dave Chapman, from Danny Shields and Archie Hancock, should have set the Mariners on the road. It was not to be. Butcher played great soccer and the Mariners were caught short in teamwork, as Butcher were easy winners. Mariners cannot look forward with any confidence to this week's visit to Huttonville. This was a different game, and Mariner team, from the previous week.

Another different team from a previous appearance was the Minor Bantam Independents. Jack White's lads turned on their best to defeat Bolton by 2-1 in a fast flowing game. All the players put out for this and they showed they can play when they want.

This Saturday the youth finals begin at 8 a.m. and go on all day on five fields around town to close off the season. A busy day ahead for us all, folks. At the same time the Peel-Halton league finals are on at the Croatia Field in Norval, and although none of our teams are playing a good day's soccer is there for the seeing.

Giant baserunner Bill Tutt was caught in this attempt to steal home, as Indian catcher Mike Wilkins lays on the tag. Tutt had a great day, though, pitching three innings and knocking in a pair of runs to lead the Giants to the GBA major tyke title Saturday at the Fairgrounds. (Herald photo by Gerry Timbers)

Defence and hitting the keys to Angel win in T-ball final

Casselman Fuel Angels 31 vs Halton Credit Union Mets 20

The mighty Angels combined excellent defence with outstanding hitting to win the Georgetown Baseball Association T-Ball final game. Both teams played well, demonstrating to the large crowd the best of T-Ball. Coaches Nick Kotsos of the Angels and Chris Bewly of the Mets both agreed this was a day of champions, with no real losers.

Mike Kotsos hit two home runs, and Sherie Peacock also had two hitting safely in each inning. David Langille scooping up anything hit in his direction and Mike Burns burning up the bases.

Ryan Hutchins made an outstanding catch in the second inning. Mark Aldridge had a strong game, completing a double play in the first inning. The Angels received a total team effort with David Kotsos as pitcher, Brad Friend hitting safely in each inning, David Langille scooping up anything hit in his direction and Mike Burns burning up the bases.

Andrew Ashenurst and Rohan Kumar gave 100 per cent in each inning. Tara Gibson and Sherie Peacock sparked the Angels with their heads-up play. Jason Duguay was outstanding, providing sound defence for the Angels.

The Mets played a strong game falling to the Angel defence in the third inning. Steven Bewly played his usual strong game, Duace Astrauskas was superb as pitcher, Chris Armstrong and Neil Scudder covered the outfield holding the Angels to only one base.

Graham Kennedy scooped up any ball hit his way as shortstop, Craig Matheson at second base and Cory Young at shortstop in the second inning were outstanding. Sarah and Heather Hiseman alternated as backcatcher and had strong games.

Steven Carson peppered the field with a series of doubles and singles and David Astrauskas had his usual good game hitting safely in each inning.

Giants are perfect winning tyke title

Derek Treffrey's lead-off home run in the bottom of the first turned out to be an omen of things to come, as the Giants went on to down the Indians 10-3 and win the Georgetown Baseball Association major tyke championship Sunday at the Fairgrounds.

The regular-season champion Giants, who cruised through the playoffs without a defeat in five games, decided the issue early with four big runs in their first at bat.

After Treffrey's lead-off shot, Marc Smellie drew a base on balls, and Scott Friend doubled him home. One out later, Bill Tutt tripled home the third Giant run, and he scored on a two-out single by David Haskins.

The star of the game for the winners, though, was pitcher Bill Tutt, who contained the Indians over three innings. Seven of the nine outa Tutt recorded were strike outs.

Any doubt about the final outcome of the game was settled in the Giants half of the third, when they upped their advantage to 7-0.

Treffrey drew a lead-off walk, and raced home on Smellie's triple. Bill Tutt tripled to score Smellie, and Brad Tutt followed with a run-scoring single.

The Giants added another run in the fourth on an Alan Fudge single and a Haskins double, and two more in the sixth when Darren Peel and Fudge sandwiched singles around a Bill Tutt double.

Adam Hills, who doubled and scored in the fifth inning, was the outstanding Indian player on the day.

The Indians finished third overall in league play, but upset the second-place Mariners in the playoffs to reach the final.
