Sheldon concerned over short list

Landfill possibility in Acton area, study suggests

As the region's environmental assessment study begins to narrow down possible sites for a new landfill site, Coun. Pam Sheldon is concerned that an Acton location has ended up on the study's short list. Last Tuesday the region held a special public meeting in Oakville to review its site selection process and discuss what the next step will be as it tries to find a new landfill site for Halton's trash.

The Indusmin property south of Acton near the Highway 25 - Regional Road 43 intersection is one of seven sites which regional consultants feel could be used as a landfill site.

He told council Monday night that the work consultants are doing will leave room for municipal responses to the landfill site search.

While urging councillors to stay informed of the environmental process now underway, town engineer Bob Austin suggested that it would be "premature" for council to officially react to the Indusmin land showing up on the region's list of candidate landfill sites.

Town officials indicated, that because of the broad scope of the environmental study that the region is not ready to commit itself to a location yet.

The environmental assessment for the landfill site search is being held in conjunction with another internal study on how most of the region's trash can be recycled and turned into fuel.

The property is used for quarrying lime-

Peter Norton enters by-election race

Peter Norton has joined Limehouse resident Dolly Moulden in making a bid for the Ward 2 seat left open by the sudden death of Tom Hill.

Along with Jake Kuiken, Mr. Norton, 39, was a candidate in the last election which was won by Mr. Hill.

Mr. Norton is married and was born and raised in Glen Williams. He owns and operates Carefree Carpets Ltd. in Georgetown.

He is a lay reader and People's Warden at St. Alban's Church, Glen Williams.

Mr. Norton helped start minor baseball in Glen Williams and for the past two years he has organized the Muscular Dystrophy Golf Tournament.

His prime concerns are: that the area is well represented in the best interests of the residents, the "aggregate invasion", and "the quality of goods and services being delivered to Ward 2 residents for their tax dollars."

Peter Norton (seen above) will run as a candidate for Ward 2 in the Oct. 24 by-election.

Manufacturing show

Plans are well underway for Halton region's first Manufacturing opportunities show and "opportunities supermarket" planned for Oct. 4 in Milton.

Regional manufacturers will be showing businessmen parts and supplies they now import, but would like to buy domestically. No Halton Hills firms responded to the region's invitation to set up a booth.

The companies which are looking for domestic suppliers are International Harvester, Rockwell International, Manobourden, Canadian Meter, Le Blanc and Royle, Halton region's own purchasing department, Marley Roofing and a hospital supplies group.

Along with federal and provincial ministries and agencies, Halton region and Milton will also have booths at the show which will be held at the Rockwell International Plant, Martin Street, Milton.

Milton is the only local municipality which took up the business development department's offer to host a booth.

For more information about the show, call the region's business development department at 878-8113 (from Milton and Georgetown) or 853-0501 for calls from Acton.

By-election date confirmed

It's official: Halton Hills Esqueping by-election will go ahead on Oct. 24. There will be an advanced polling date of Oct. 15 and nominations will be received Sept. 29, Sept. 30 and Monday, Oct. 3.

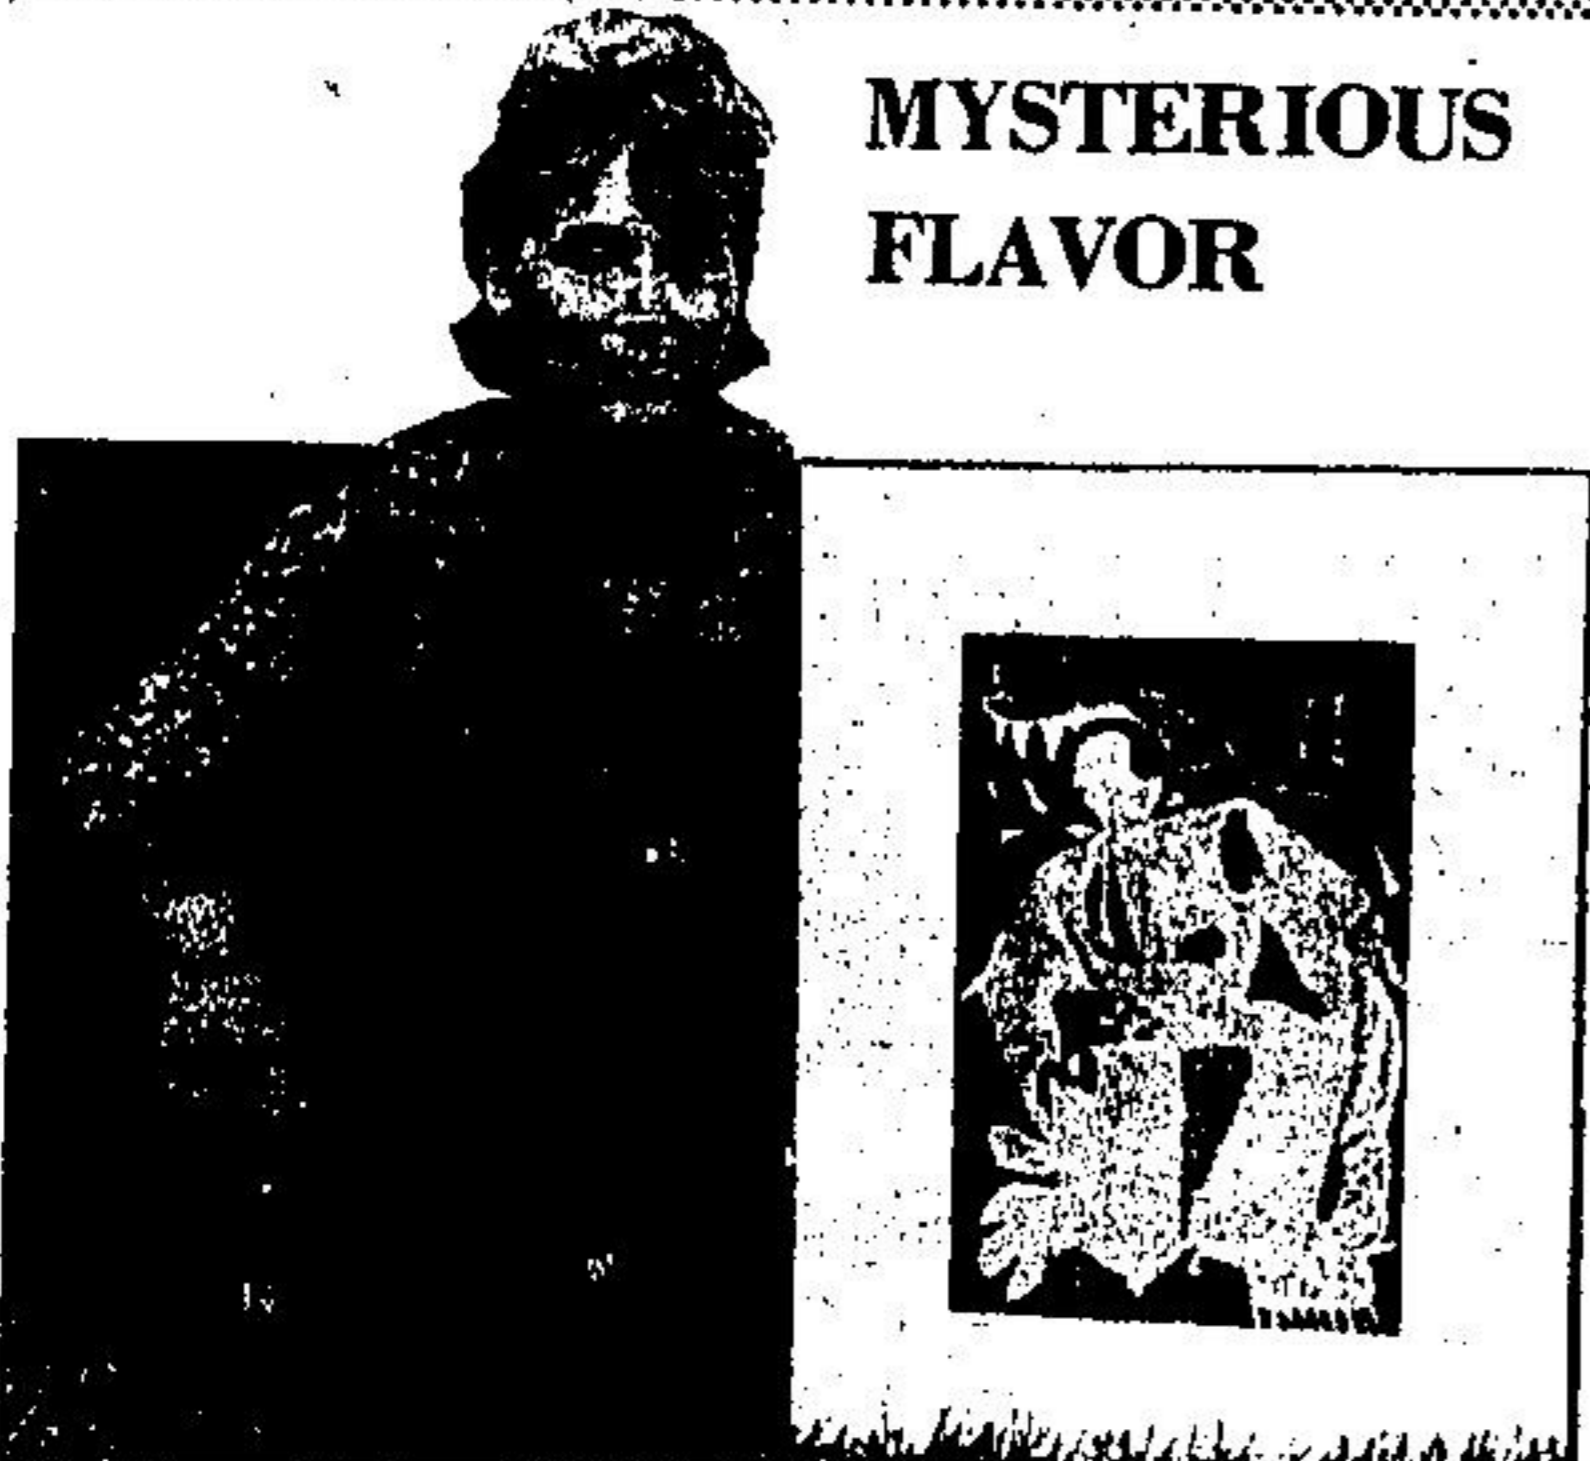

King benefit dance

A benefit dance is being held Saturday night at Holy Cross Church on Maple Avenue for two Smith and Stone employees whose home was burned down in August.

The Smith and Stone Social club is organizing the dance to raise funds for Violet and Jack King whose Chapel Street home burned with damages estimated at $80,000. Careless smoking is believed to be the cause of the blaze.

Funds for the family total $2,482 so far. For ticket information call Grant Somers at 877-7883. Helpful contributions other than money can also be made by calling the same number or 873-1163.

MYSTERIOUS FLAVOR

The mysterious flavor of the orient was captured for the walls of the Halton Hills Cultural Centre's gallery. Abstract artist Vallery Mokrytzki of Speyside opened her first solo show in Georgetown last week. Featuring 22 paintings, the bulk of which were done following a two week trip to Japan in March, Mrs. Mokrytzki's exhibition is entitled "Expressions". She said the title was picked to show the meaning of abstract art. Some of the works are monoprints oil painted on top. "Expressions" continues until Sept. 30.
