Trafalgar Road site best

Of ten sites examined in a recent regional study, only one is rated good for rural industry in Halton Hills.

The final report of the "Halton Region Rural Industrial Land Needs Study" points to a stretch of land along the west side of Trafalgar Road and Highway 7 between Maple Avenue and Regional Road 43 as being the most suitable location for rural industrial land in Halton Hills.

Other areas examined in the study include stretches along Highway 25, north and south of Acton; land on the north side of Highway 7 between Acton and Sixth Line; land on the west side of Trafalgar Road between Ashgrove and Stewarttown; Sideroad 17 east of Georgetown; Sideroad 10 between the Eighth and Tenth lines and Highway 7 between Acton and the Milton Halton Hills town line.

MORE NEEDED
Land between Steeles Avenue and Highway 401 should be used as fully serviced "urban" industrial land, the report says, but only after Georgetown has used up 400-acres of industrial land proposed in its newly expanded urban boundaries.

Rural industrial land receives its water from wells and feeds sewage into private septic systems. It's usually considered "dry" land, unsuitable for "heavy" industries which have a high demand for water and sewer services, but ideal for such uses as warehousing and farm services.

The Highway 7-Trafalgar Road land identified as most suitable for rural industrial use is located on lower grade agricultural property.

The report noted that

BURGER KING CORRECTION

In the Burger King advertisement which appeared in The Herald on Wednesday, December 14th/83 that showed the 1st Anniversary Celebration price of the Whopper at 99¢ being in effect "Until December 18th/83" should have read "Until Jan. 7th/83". We regret any inconvenience this may have caused.
