

Something to cheer about

TOP CITIZENS — Ted Tyler, of Acton's Tyler Travel and Tyler Transport, is named Acton's top citizen of the year by the local Chamber of Commerce. The Georgetown Lions Club chooses Esme Ball as the community's most appreciated resident.
SADLY MISSED — Tom Hill, Halton Hills' first mayor and a former reeve of Esqueving township, dies in August at the age of 63. He is predeceased by another beloved former politician and educator, Acton's Garnet W. (Pat)

McKenzie, who dies in March at 70.
OFF TO GREENER PASTURES — Change is nothing new to the region, which bids farewell to three top executives during 1983. Gerry Lawson the spunky treasurer who pulled Halton from the financial doldrums after 1980, left early in the year. He was replaced by Joe Rinaldo.
 Matt Fischer, leaves after two years running the region's business development department. And Dr. Peter Cole, also a relative newcomer to the region, heads to Peel region after a controversial stint as Halton's medical officer of health.

 Len Auger decides not to seek another year's term as chairman of the Halton Board of Education. Betty Fisher, Georgetown's trustee, takes over.
NEW FACES — In a whirlwind sequence of events, Esqueving's Jake Kuiken is elected the rural area rep on local council, and just over a month later, he's appointed by fellow town councillors as the Esqueving councillor on regional council. Peter Norton, the first runner up in the Esqueving by-election takes Mr. Kuiken's vacated seat at the local level.
 Russ Miller is named mayor after Pete Pomeroy resigns to take over the regional chairman's job.

BIG DISSAPPOINTMENT — With so many issues affecting rural residents, the small turnout for the by-election in October, only 18.6 percent of the eligible voters bothered to vote.
SOMETHING TO CHEER ABOUT — Halton Hills mini-building boom. It far surpassed the dismal construction figures for 1982. Projects which start in 1983 include the expansions of Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital and P. Graham Bell Associates on Georgetown's Armstrong Boulevard.
 Councillors in Ward One (Acton) and Ward 3 (Old Georgetown) stay in touch with their constituents not only with personal calls but with a weekly drop in.
 In its first year of operation, the glasses collection run by the Georgetown Lions Club, dispatches 3,000 glasses to Ecuador.
BIRTHDAY PARTIES — The Georgetown Chamber of Commerce announces plans for a BIG celebration in 1984. It's an opportunity for local businesses to introduce themselves to the public and it will honor Georgetown's 120th anniversary, as well as salute the province's bi-centennial.
 Stewarttown Senior Public School calls in all former staff and students to join a 25th anniversary party in November.

Liquor bags
 carry message
 The Liquor Control Board of Ontario has embarked on a public awareness campaign to discourage people from drinking and driving.
 As a pilot project, four L.C.B.O. stores across Metro Toronto are being supplied with liquor bags bearing the message IF YOU DRINK DON'T DRIVE.
 "Consumer reaction to the bags at the stores has been so positive, we are considering extending it across the province," said Dr. Robert Elgie, Minister of Consumer and Commercial Relations.
 The project was initiated by the ministry in co-operation with the Attorney General's anti-drinking and driving campaign.
 "We believe that the liquor bag warning can accomplish two things.

The year in review

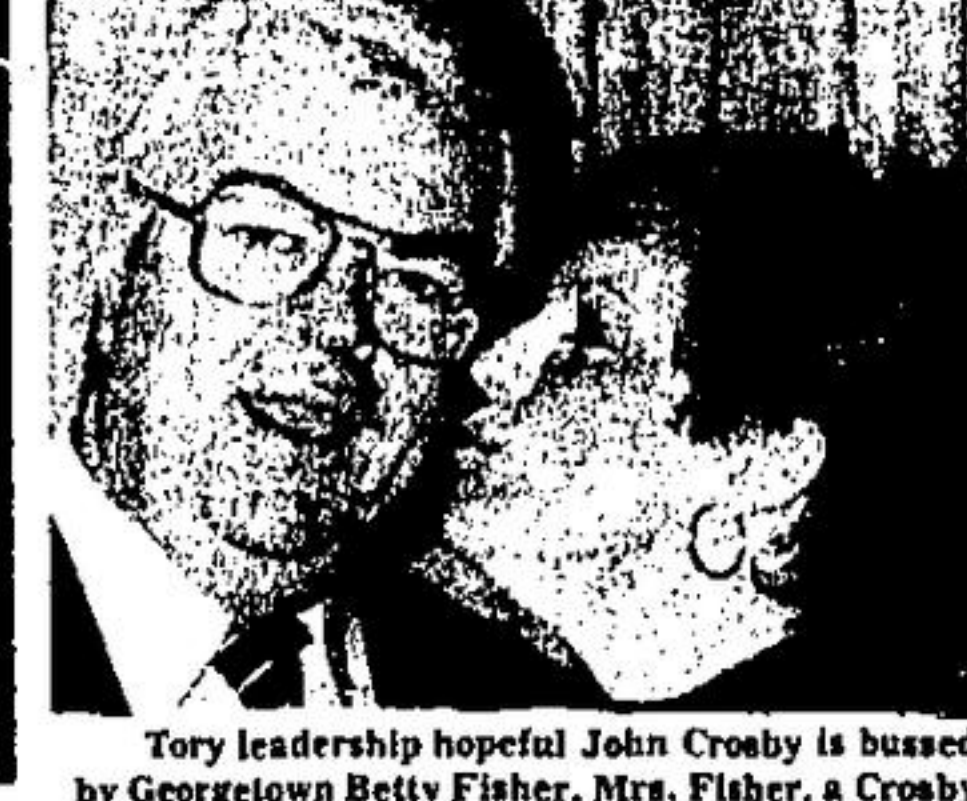

It may be minus 15 degrees outside now, but back in July there were the lazy, busy days of summer, and tub floating on Acton's Fairy Lake. Herald photo

A juggler with the Dr. Bandoli Travelling Good Time Show delights visitors to downtown Georgetown during June's Pioneer Days.

In 1983, the Halton Hills Arts Council's Musical Trillight Series brings in Robert and Sarah Feuerstein.

Tory leadership hopeful John Crosby is kissed by Georgetown Betty Fisher. Mrs. Fisher, a Crosby supporter in the leadership campaign, was a voting delegate at the convention which eventually chose Brian Mulroney.

Georgetown's 756 Squadron air cadets are visible at various events throughout the year.

Mill Street, Georgetown is reconstructed between Main and Mill Streets as part of a downtown improvement project.

HOT SHOT

Tom Rasmussen's fast stop at the blueline indicates he's quite a hockey player. He's also a whiz during public skating hours, embarrassing slower and more awkward skaters. (Herald photo)

Staff Sgt. Teague replaces Les Graham

The Staff Sergeants at Halton regional police have been playing musical chairs and these three men have swapped jobs as of the new year. Georgetown's Criminal Investigations Bureau chief Les Graham has given his post to Staff Sgt. Roy Smith who was with Georgetown's uniformed division. Staff Sgt. Graham has taken on the position of Criminal Intelligence Bureau chief in Oakville. The former head of the Intelligence Bureau is Staff Sgt. Roy Teague, who after four years in the bureau is back in uniform at the Georgetown station, taking on Staff Sgt. Smith's duties. The changes are all lateral moves.
