Soccer

Changes for local soccer

It is that time of year again, folks. Hello. After the winter hibernation we pop our heads out from our holes in the ground and begin to prepare for the soccer season ahead.

Senior and youth, male and female alike turn our thoughts to the warmer weather and running up down the fields chasing the wee ballie, pitting our strengths and skills against each other.

Youth soccer in Georgetown is undergoing a problem spell, it seems, with a shortage of bodies for executive and coaching positions. At the end of last year, more than 130 invitations were sent to the 1983 coaches and managers to attend the end of season meeting. Nine attended.

It is reported that for 1984 there is a shortage of coaches. True, yet there still has been no registration of coaches. This usually takes place on the same days as player registration. I maintained, whilst an executive, that we should register coaches and managers separately from players. We should register coaches first and then we would know how many players should be registered.

LACKING COACHES

Too often, we found that there was a lack of coaches for the numbers of players signed. There was a great scramble to find the people to look after the teams. In an odd case we had to find a coach after the season had begun, a system that causes a great deal of work. I can recall that members of the executive made over 150 calls to try to find three or four coaches, without success.

Over the years we have sacrificed quality for quantity. It is all very well to achieve registration numbers around the 1000 mark. It is not well when we do not have the proper coaches to look after these numbers. Too often we are left with willing hands who do not have the knowledge or skills to teach the kids how to play.

It is part of the club's current program to take part in coaching clinics as never before and bodies are needed for this purpose. It may well be that the presently qualified coaches give thought to recruiting for their own ranks and develop coaching within, yet separate from, the club itself.

On Thursday (tomorrow evening) at Cedarvale you may have the opportunity to volunteer your services, or otherwise take part, at the spring budget meeting.

The senior Inter County Recreational league is also preparing for the season with their spring budget meeting to be held in Milton, as usual, on Thursday, Feb. 16. The league is considering a radical change in the playing schedule following a mandate from the annual meeting last November. Several cosmetic changes were made to the constitution resulting in increasing the executive to lessen the workload of the previous members. Last year's executive were returned to the board with one or two changes in position. The Meteor soccer club announce the date of their spring pre-season dance as Saturday Feb. 11, and it will likely be another smash hit.

GEORGE LEAVING

The Falcons are attempting some changes this year to achieve on and off the field success. George Baines and Sam Ingills are spearheading the team's fortunes this season. This means that George is leaving the youth fold and Dave Maloney takes over last year's junior squad. The club should be going into the gym soon.

The referees association announce official recognition at Peel-Halton District as a major achievement in 1983, together with an unprecedented number of officiated games. Several refs were recognized at the District finals and many new young ones came through the training systems.

There is a meeting at Elaine and Luc Bertrand's, 34 Bairdrow, on Monday Feb. 13, with some unfinished '83 financial business to be cleared and to register for this coming season. The association intend to register at the OSA for those who are qualified, so, do pop in.

Next week I hope to be able to give you the youth executive and rep and house league situations as well as some important dates. See you later.
