BANK ON IT

Poor Anthony Viola had a hard time keeping his jacket and tie on Friday morning. Halton Hills plaza Toronto-Dominion bank manager Terry Dickinson (left), Salvation Army Captain Bill Perrin and the Main Street T-D manager Gabi Martins had fun tugging on Mr. Viola's clothing. Georgetown's T-D branches are having a clothing drive April 9 to 21 for the local Salvation Army. Unneeded clothes can be dropped off at the banks or they can be picked up if requested. "If you can't wear it, share it," is the theme for the drive. Mr. Viola is the assistant manager at the Halton Hills plaza T-D bank.

Collision with town truck

Herald Staff
One of the town's yellow dump trucks sustained $200 damage in a collision with a 1980 Oldsmobile March 28. There was $1,000 damage to the Oldsmobile. Nobody was hurt in the two vehicle collision on Credit and Beaver Streets in Glen Williams. The 1977 GMC dump truck was inching west on Credit Street to see if there was any traffic at the Beaver Street intersection when it was struck on the left front fender by the Oldsmobile. The Halton regional police report said houses on Beaver Street obstructed the view of the dump truck driver. The driver of the Oldsmobile was a 24-year old Acton man. No charges were laid by police.

Norval Cows come home

By KAY WILSON
Herald Correspondent
NORVAL - Terry Leslie of RR4 Georgetown was able to bring his herd of dairy cattle home to a new barn following the fire which levelled his 96 year old bank barn last Oct. 25. Terry's cattle have been housed on the farm of George Dixon since the fire and he carried on his dairy business there. He was very grateful to have the use of his neighbor's barn across the road. However, Terry and his wife Lora are happy to get back to normal since the fire, along with the many decisions that go into rebuilding which has modern dairy equipment.

'Path of tears' a hit in Ballinafad

By WINIFRED SMITH
Herald Correspondent
BALLINAFAD - The beautiful weather and a christening brought many out to the church service Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ron Inglis presented their infant son for baptism. Admiring relatives, including grandparents and one great grandparent witnessed the ceremony. The men's choir sang an anthem "The Path of Tears" appropriate for the season of Lent. Sunday April 29 there will be a youth choir coming from Cannington to participate in the service. Visitors at the Smith-Farm on Sunday were

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Swann from St. Catharines and Mr. and Mrs. John Burt from Hillsburgh. The Burt families living in our area were related to the Howard Speck who was killed in the snowmobile accident of last week. Many attended his funeral last Wednesday afternoon. Bud and Eveline Snow had a visitor Sunday from the West. It was their daughter-in-law Lori, widow of their late son Alan.

Stewarttown news

By P. Stewart and J. Ross
Herald Special
April 4 is clean-up day at St. John's Church basement, and the next Guild meeting is April 11. A beautiful white swan which has been seen on the river in the village for a week or more was killed on the road Sunday. Melvyn Hicken, of Cobden, was in this area for a couple of days this past week. Don't forget April is Cancer Month.
