Stewarttown actors solve fatal knifing

By ANI PEDERIAN

Murder? In a nunnery? Is it possible? Explore the evidence with Stewarttown Senior Public School pupils. All they know is that someone in a long black cape stole away after the fatal knifing.

About one-third of the students at the school are involved in the April 17, 18 and 19 production being staged at the John Elliott Theatre in Georgetown.

Second World War blackouts.

ACTION

The action takes place in a convent school, and except for the male gardener, a baron, the Scotland Yard inspector and sergeant, and the students and teachers, everybody else is a nun dressed in the typical flowing robes of the Catholic faith.

"It's a bit of a comedy, but primarily it's a drama," director-producer Mike Coates, a Stewarttown teacher, said.

NINE

There are nine students involved in the production of stage sets, 25 in makeup, 12 in costumes and 12 in publicity.

With a double cast, 30 students are involved in the acting end of the play. Some are playing double parts.

Although the murder takes place in the first scene, it isn't until the very end that the audience discovers who actually committed the stabbing.

Oh weep for the Baroness Silema who prays so earnestly. She doesn't know what's coming next. Stewarttown Senior Public School pupils are putting on the murder mystery April 17, 18 and 19 at the John Elliott Theatre.

Written by British author Emmet Lavery, "Murder in a Nunnery" was adapted from the novel by Eric Shepherd. It's a murder mystery which takes place outside London during the

Red Deer challenge

The Town of Halton Hills has accepted Red Deer, Alberta's challenge! We will be competing - just for the fun of it - against other Canadian communities with a population of 30,000 to 60,000 persons to get the greatest percentage of residents to participate in 15 minutes of physical activity on Wednesday, May 16.

That's all there is to it - plan to spend 15 minutes of the day doing any activity that makes your heart beat faster - walking, bicycling, swimming, rollerskating, dancing. This event is certain to be great fun for the entire community. Watch your newspaper for more details or call 877-5185, ext. 261 if you or your organization would like to become involved.

Amber lights for Delrex corner

By ANI PEDERIAN
Herald Staff

Recognizing the number of accidents and near accidents at the busy Delrex Boulevard and Maple Avenue intersection in Georgetown, a number of recommendations have been made by the region.

Director of public works R.W.J. Moore suggests a flashing amber-red overhead beacon be put at the intersection; that flashing amber beacons be introduced over the existing school crossing signs, to operate only during morning, noon and afternoon crossing periods, to be activated by crossing guards; and put up special school crossing markings for east and westbound traffic on Maple Avenue.

The suggestions were made in a report by Mr. Moore at the request of town Coun. John McDonald last fall.

The cost for the beacons would be paid for by the region in its 1984 traffic signalization budget.

Heaven waited for Pat Brodie

By PAT HRETCHKA
Herald columnist

Tonight's the night! Have you got your tickets? Tonight is the night to see and hear a world class musician perform at the John Elliott Theatre. Paul Brodie, one of the world's foremost classical saxophonists, will be appearing under the sponsorship of the Halton Hills Arts Council.

Mr. Brodie is coming to us fresh from a tour of India, Hong Kong, Singapore, Australia, Fiji and the Philippines. Already well-known in the U.S.A. and Europe he now has a growing reputation in the far east.

Let us hope that his reception in his native Canada is as warm and enthusiastic as in the rest of the world. This column is to remind ticket holders of tonight's concert and to inform those who forgot to get their tickets that there will be a limited number available at the door.

There will be a surprise element to tonight's concert. I can say no more. My lips are sealed. Do not try to pump your neighbourhood Arts Council member. All are sworn to secrecy.

How sweet the music
And the song
Put forth into the night
Paul Brodie plays
Your heart responds
Brodie fills you with delight
Is this the sound
Really the sound
The sax was meant to play
Heaven waited for these melodies
Done in just this way
And honours came to Brodie
You are truly "Mr. Saxophone"

Maple syrup, safari films for seniors

Herald Special

March into April provided interesting programs for the Golden Triangle Club. On March 20 the short business meeting was followed by a pictorial Safari in Kenya with a side trip to Victoria Falls.

In decided contrast in climate some slides of Churchill, Manitoba and the Polar Bears waiting for the ice to form all presented by Madge Whitfield 'Y' co-ordinator.

The regular 50-50 draw was won by Edith Hackett. The Bring and Buy table as usual was a source of interest and profit. The afternoon concluded with refreshments.

On March 31 many Golden Triangle members and friends enjoyed the warmth and sun of a beautiful day at Black Creek Pioneer Village where maple syrup was boiling to become syrup and sugar. All enjoyed looking at things our ancestors used years ago and for some, memories of the time when many of the items were actually used.

At the first meeting in April the members enjoyed some stretch and bend exercises followed by an enjoyable hour of cards and bingo. Plans were prepared for a trip to the 'Yarns of Tralee' in Listowel on April 24 and a Niagara Blossom Tour on May 15.

For information regarding trips phone 877-3880, 877-4055. These trips are open to anyone interested.
