

Lions Club active planning spring events

By GAYLE LAROCHE, Herald Special
The Georgetown Lions Club are in full swing with spring activities. A recent fashion show co-ordinated by Lena Connors showed a nice profit.
The Lions Club will have a food booth at the Bang-O-Rama in May under the direction of Lioness Billie Idzi.
Lioness Pat Mason has tickets on sale for our annual Ladies Only Night to be held later in May.
All Lions, Lionesses and their families are invited to Lion's Day at Canada's Wonderland May 26.
The new executive for 1984-85 are: past president Marcella Neely, president Rita Boyle, 1st vice president Lois Giffin, 2nd vice president Penny Bristow, 3rd vice president Madeline Collier, secretary Lynne Chapman, treasurer Gayle Laroche, bustle buster Dorothy Hansen, lioness tamer Billie Idzi.

The directors are Rita Zorge, E. Lacey and Pat Mason.
Lioness Rita Zorge is organizing a past president's gallery to be put in the Lion's Hall.
Our Lioness Club was saddened by the death of Lioness Olga McGill. We'll miss her humour and hard work in our club. The girls met at the funeral home to hold a short memorial service in her honor.
The April meeting came to a close with a nice lunch and an in-club auction with Lioness Kay Ledwidge as auctioneer.

Toy mascot needs a name

There's a new monkey in town who needs help from young children to find a name for itself!
The monkey is the mascot of the North Halton Toy Library, and all children up to age 7 are invited to submit their idea for a name by May 31.
The winner will receive a $10 gift certificate from Toy Magle.
The monkey's legs are stiff and immovable because of cerebral palsy, and so the monkey sits in a little wooden wheel chair.

Although the Library's membership is open to all children, those with special needs have priority, and most of the over 300 toys are specially chosen to help develop children's physical, mental and social skills.
The monkey will be on display until May 12 at Georgetown Fabrics (beside Zelters), then at Penniesworth until May 26, and then will move to a permanent home at the North Halton Toy Library in George Kennedy School.

There's a no-name monkey sitting in three-year old Brooke Duval's arms. Children are being asked to help find a name for the new mascot of the North Halton Toy Library. The winner will receive a $10 gift certificate from Toy Magle. With the Library's emphasis on toys for the handicapped, this monkey sits in a wooden wheel chair because of cerebral palsy.

Narcotic possession

A Mountainview Road teenager in Georgetown has been charged with possession of a narcotic in an early Friday evening incident. The youth was charged when police investigated a car with four occupants parked at the foot of Anne Street.

SWINGING SENIORS

After being fed, seniors frolicked in the Lions Hall last week, at the Georgetown Lions' annual do for seniors. The Lions' young people's group, The Leos, provided plenty of amusement following the Irish stew dinner. Perched atop the piano, Tammy Giberson, 18, led the Leos in their Irish tale of two leprechauns. Performers David Marell (left), 19, and Kim Lacey (right), 18, played the major roles. The two most senior seniors at the dinner were Emily Bessie (centre) who turns 94 in August, and George Haas who celebrated his 98th birthday April 23.

Horticulture Society news

Plant, garden sale May 12

By MADGE WHITFIELD, Herald Special
Burchart Gardens and Flowers were brought to the Georgetown and District Horticulture Society in a beautiful pictorial presentation by George Clements, area director of Region 6 of the Ontario Horticulture Association, at the regular monthly meeting at Knox Presbyterian Church April 18.
Georgetown and District Horticulture Society is part of Region 6 of the Ontario Association.
During the brief business meeting preceding the presentation it was noted that Shirley Iveson, director of the flower show committee had won two awards at the Garden Festival Flower and Garden show recently held at Exhibition Place.

Plans are well under way for the plant and flower sale to be held at Knox Presbyterian Church Saturday May 12 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. This sale will have many plants and roots from members gardens along with other garden items and will provide material for new or established gardens, and all will be very reasonably priced. Refreshments will be available during the day. The annual May Flower Show will be part of the next meeting on Wednesday May 16 at which time Prue Crookston will demonstrate flower arranging.

Books, calendars, stamps, crayons and stickers were among the many goodies XI Delta Beta members piled into 30 tote bags they delivered Friday afternoon to the Georgetown District Memorial Hospital. Delivering the goodies to pediatrics head nurse Mary Marsh (centre) were Lynda Tyrrell (left) and Marg MacLeish. (Herald photo)

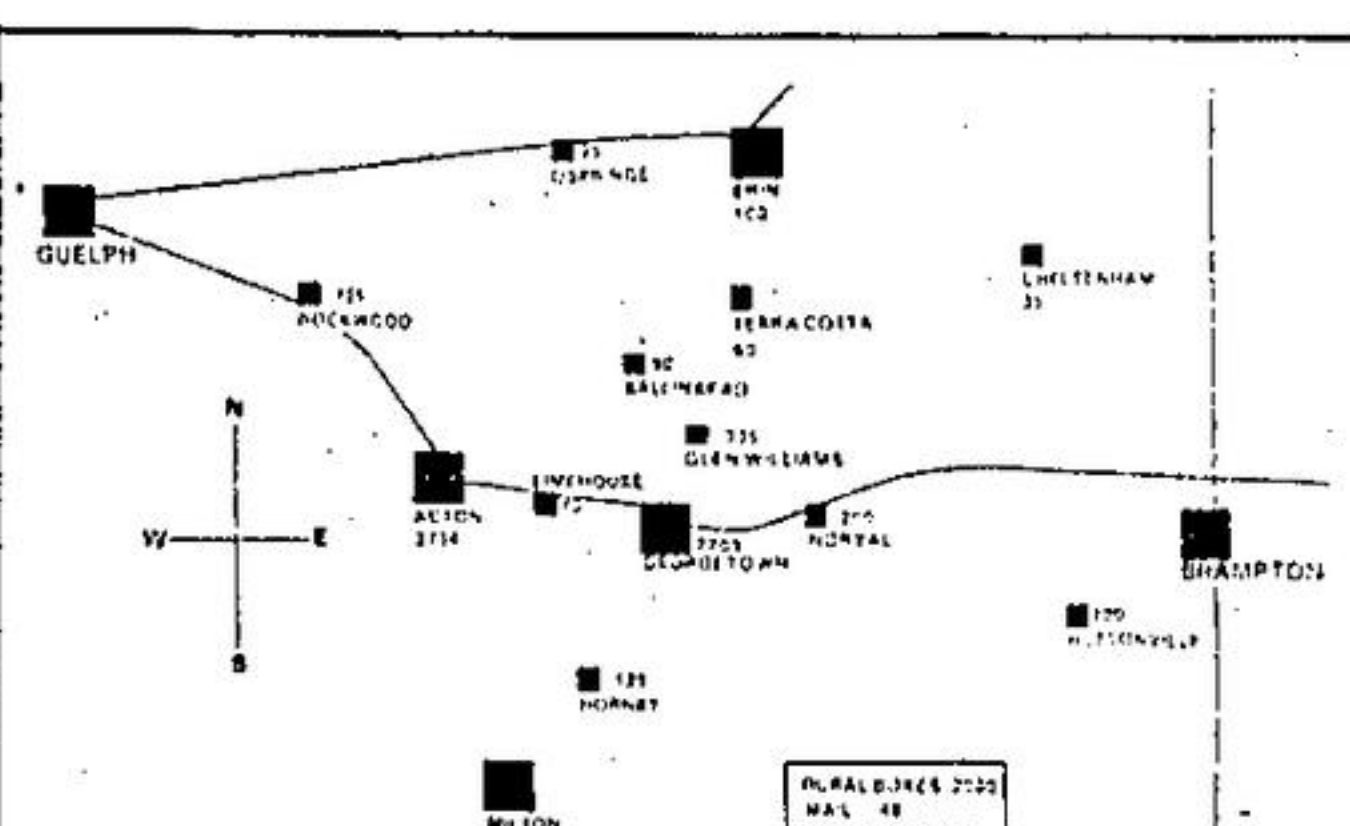

Jean Ruddell is again in charge of the "Bulbs from Holland" and is taking orders from now until June for flowering bulbs for spring 1985.

June Dean and Queta Percy have been doing a tremendous job with the disabled in flower arranging in conjunction with the Recreation Association using Memorial flowers supplied by J.S. Jones Funeral Home.

June is also running classes at her home on Saturday mornings demonstrating and instructing in the use of flowers dried and tinted to be used in arrangements. For information phone June Dean 877-8088.

Again this year Georgetown and District Horticulture Society will be planting flowers in the planters on the streets of Georgetown as part of their community commitment.

Hunting prohibited around schools

Hunting will be prohibited within a half mile radius of the outer boundaries of all schools in Halton's hunting areas.

Halton Hills trustee Dick Howitt cited an incident at Speyside P.S. last fall when seeking approval of the motion at last week's regular meeting of the Halton Board of Education.

Hunters shot and killed a deer which was then dragged out onto the road from the woods adjacent to Speyside Public School. Mr. Howitt said he was concerned about the close-ness and safety aspect of the incident.

Another incident involved gunshots in the vicinity of Acton District High School.
