

GOOD RESPONSE

How's this look, guys? Halton Hills plaza's Toronto-Dominion bank's assistant manager had fun pulling out an off-white safari outfit Friday afternoon. The outfit was one of many clothes collected by T-D at its two Georgetown banks. Altogether 25 bags of old clothes and shoes were collected in just two weeks for the Salvation Army's thrift stores in Acton and Georgetown. Handing over the public's contributions to Captain Wilson Perrin (left) were T-D Main Street manager Gabi Martins, and plaza assistant manager Anthony Viola.
