Fruity meeting

The third meeting of the Ballinafad 4-H Fruity Fertilizers took place June 17 and included a strawberry social.

Members talked about their various problems and the progress made with their vegetable garden.

For the next meeting, July 15, members have to bring a weed from their garden. A collage will be made from all the weeds.

Impaired driver

Police charged a 64 year old Georgetown man with impaired driving and driving over the legal limit after he was observed driving erratically, by hitting several signs, along Highway 7 in Georgetown.

Bicentennial craft show for Ballinafad residents

By WINIFRED SMITH
Herald Correspondent
BALLINAFAD - June 20 was a day to remember in Ballinafad as people turned out to celebrate Ontario's bicentennial with tea, a craft show and an antique display.

The program was sponsored by the Ballinafad branch of Women's Institute. It was held at the community centre from 3 p.m. until 8 p.m.

Many pictures of bygone days were hung from the walls and the Tweedsmuir History Book and other W.I. material was laid out with the curator, Eleanor McLean and her assistant Ada Kirkwood present to answer any questions.

Marg Jamieson, the president and her committee with other members deserve a great deal of credit, but the tremendous enthusiasm of the residents and their cooperation in loaning their treasures resulted in the wonderful success that it was.

We did not know there were so many talented people in Ballinafad. There was an exhibit of beautiful oil paintings done by Mrs. March and her son, as well as water colored paintings which was the work of another local artist, Lotte Zonneberg.

On display also was a table full of ceramics, the work of Audrey Fendley and her daughter. Quilts done in the 1800s as well as modern ones were there to admire. The doll display loaned by Sheila Foster was a great attraction and we must not forget to mention the leather craft display, the work of Jean and Reid Kerr who are local residents.

Numerous other crafts were there to admire as one went around the hall. The tea table looked most attractive with the floral centerpiece which was made of lemon lilies, yellow chrysanthemums and blue iris, the W.I. colors.

PSYCHIC RESPONSE

Carole Matthews

Dear Carole: I am planning to leave home this year and pursue my career, am I doing the right thing? Will I be successful? Enclosed is a picture.

Dear Susan: Thank you, Susan from Acton I cannot imagine why you are concerned first of all about being a success in your career. You are very intelligent and know where you are heading for the majority of the time.

You will make a great teacher, hope this is in your plan. As far as moving, you will be fine, you are very independent and your family realizes this very much so they will be pulling for you with the support you need. This is very important as you are very much family orientated.

Grandmother guests

By MRS. JOHN HELLBODDY
Herald Correspondent
ASHGROVE - June 19 Mrs. H. Shore was hostess in her home for the grandmother's meeting of the W.I. Besides regular members there were 15 grandmothers present and three great grandmothers.

President Mrs. Bruce McClure opened the meeting by reading a poem on grandmothers, also the ode and collect. Roll Call was answered by telling a humorous incident involving your grandchild.

An invite was received from Ballinafad to attend their social June 30. Mrs. John Bird gave a splendid summary of the District Annual held recently.

Mrs. J.H. Hunter informed us that if you have any complaints on television advertising on what is shown just write and tell them about it.

Mrs. G. Wilson had charge of the program and called on Mrs. F.W. Wilson for the motto "In a small child's eyes the faith of all the ages lies." Mrs. Fred Nurse gave a humorous reading "17th century Nun's Prayer". Guest speaker was Mrs. Graham Reeve who teaches in Huttonville school was very interesting as she described teaching today.
