

Fall Fair Baking prize list grows

Herald Special
As September approaches, it's time for exhibitors to plan their entries in the Georgetown Fall Fair hall.

Each year the prize list is revised and the Ladies Division of the Fair feels that this year will hold a most exciting list of categories.

Robin Hood Flour is sponsoring two competitions to commemorate their 75th anniversary. The adult class for 1984, "The National Robin Hood Birthday Cake Competition", consists of baking and decorating a "Sherwood Chocolate Cake".

The recipe for the cake is available in the prize list. There are cash prizes for this class and the national winner is eligible for a trip to Sherwood Forest, England.

The Junior Class from Robin Hood is the "National Robin Hood Cookiegram Contest", in which entrants, 12 years and younger are required to bake a chocolate chip "cookiegram" in any shape and decorate it in a special theme for the 75th anniversary.

The National Winner category wins a personal computer.

Neilson's are again sponsoring the "Chocolate Dream Cake Contest". There have been some changes in the rules this year, so check the prize list before entering.

This year the ladies have included a Centennial Section in the prize list, consisting of divisions including: Flowers, Baking, Homecrafts, Crafts and a Junior section.

There will be a special display in the hall for this section, as well as craft demonstrations in the hall on Sunday.

The "Country Store" will be in operation again this year. Homemade cakes, cookies and breads along with jams, jellies and small gifts, all made by the Ladies of the Fair Board, will be on there. This takes place on Saturday.

The Children's Prize List is extensive as well. The various classes including Artwork, Schoolwork, Collections, Snapshots, etc. are all judged according to the age of the entrants.

These classes have traditionally been entered through the schools, but the Fair Board Ladies wish to stress that these competitions are open to all children in the age categories listed.

The Georgetown Fall Fair runs from September 7th to the 9th incl. Anyone wishing more information on these classes or other aspects of the fair, should contact Mrs. Joyce Gosling, Secretary-Treasurer, P.O. Box 116, Georgetown, 877-9274.

Approval allows extension for region dump

By ANI FEDERIAN
Herald Staff
It was with a big sigh of relief that regional councillors welcomed the Environmental Assessment Board's report last week concerning the region's dump.

The board granted approval for continued dumping at the Burlington landfill, the region's sole depository for garbage, to May 1987.

Garbage from Halton Hills, Milton, Oakville and Burlington will continue to be buried on the existing landfilled areas of the site and on new areas of the property.

"We're very pleased with the report," Oakville councillor and planning and public works committee chairman Ann Mulvale told The Herald. "We breathed quite a sigh of relief that the extension was granted."

EXPORTING
If the results of the hearing held in May and early June had denied permission to continue dumping, the region would have had to go back to looking at exporting its garbage again, Mrs. Mulvale said.

Exporting the region's waste had been an option that the region had rejected, preferring instead to extend the capacity of the Burlington site.

The report follows on the heels of last month's approval by the Minister of the Environment for dumping to continue at the north end of the site. The Minister granted the region an emergency certificate to allow dumping on top of already buried garbage at the landfill.

All the landfilling will be within the limits of the existing property and wouldn't require the purchasing of neighboring properties.

LONG-TERM
Currently, a long-term waste-management plan is being worked on by the region which would use an incineration process to produce energy from 75 per cent of Halton's garbage.

The remaining 25 per cent will be buried in one of six candidate landfill sites currently being studied by Wright, Young and Associates. It's hoped to have one of these sites ready for landfilling operations by 1986 or 1987 at the latest.

Included in the hearing board decision were 18 recommendations and conditions on which approval of dumping is contingent.

Liquid industrial and hazardous waste, industrial, chemical and sewage sludges, septic tank pumpings, radioactive waste and processed organic waste are not to be disposed at the landfill.

By Dec. 31, the region must submit to the Ministry of the Environment a groundwater and surface water monitoring program which measures any environmental impact on nearby Falcon and Indian Creeks.

To do these assessments, the director of public works is requesting Dillon Consulting Engineers be hired, and that a Burlington Landfill Advisory Committee be established to review the design, construction, day to day operation and after-use of the landfill site.

Saturday there will be an "orienteering mini-meet" at Terra Cotta Conservation Area starting at 10 a.m.

This family event also features a special demonstration. Admission into the area is $4. For more information call 877-9650.

Erosion control project

Natural Resources Minister, Alan W. Pope, has announced approval of the Credit Valley Conservation Authority to undertake a slope erosion control project adjacent to Eden Place in Halton Hills.

A major slide in the spring of 1982 resulted in slope failure in a section of the Silver Creek Valley posing a threat to a residence on Eden Place.

The Credit Valley Conservation Authority proposes to stabilize the slope by realigning Silver Creek to prevent further undercutting of the banks. Slope stabilization works will also be implemented.

Subject to provincial priorities and availability of funds, provincial grants totaling $74,000 will be contributed to the project. The landowner is also contributing toward the cost of this project.

The total estimated cost of this project is $136,000.

Teenagers polled take voting seriously

By NITA MILLESSE
Herald Special
Many teenagers feel that voting is a great responsibility. After interviewing five youths who reached the age of 18 and will be voting this year for the first time, it was clear that voting is a very important privilege.

The majority of these youths were interested in issues that directly concern them. For example: all of those interviewed turned their attention to issues of student employment and financial assistance for university students. But such issues as the federal deficit and nuclear disarmament are also on their minds.

Most of the teenagers who were interviewed feel the political campaign isn't being run very well. They said they would like to see a more publicized and personal campaign.

They prefer to see and hear candidates in person rather than watch them advertised on television or on a sign on someone's front lawn. Ruth Burns said, "You know who is running but you don't know enough about them unless you watch T.V."

Regardless of the lack of information, most of these youths know who they will vote for and have solid reasons why.
