Antiques have their history

By KAY WILSON
Herald Correspondent

NORVAL - Mable Terry was hostess for the September meeting of the Brampton West Women's Institute.

President Dorothy Ostrander conducted the meeting to which each member brought an antique and told its story for an informative and interesting roll call.

Guest speaker Paddy Thomas of Boston Mills House Antiques was introduced by Doris Sharpe.

Mrs. Thomas cherishes antiques and explained the origin and use of some unique pieces she had brought with her.

A gift in appreciation of her talk was presented by Lois Fraser.

Secretary Jane Terry read correspondence regarding the FWIC convention in June 1985 at London, Ontario's University of Western Ontario.

Delegates to Central Ontario Area Convention at Toronto's Royal York Oct. 30 and 31 are Dorothy Ostrander and Charlotte McClure.

Mable Terry and Janet Struiksma will lead the rug braiding course.

Isabel McKay gave the courtesies at the meeting, and lunch was served by hostess Mrs. Terry and Margaret Eccles and Janet Struiksma.

In October, members will tour a local industry.

Anne Moorhead and Shirley Livingston were on hand to demonstrate rug hooking at this year's Georgetown Fall Fair. (Herald photo)

Covenant service held at Norval United

By KAY WILSON
Herald Correspondent

NORVAL - Rally Day, Sunday, at Norval United Church had several Sunday School pupils taking part.

During the covenant service, candles were lit by Kathy Paul, and Alan and Greg Savage.

Mary Crawford and Dorothy McLean represented the Sunday School teachers at the session.

Members of the Junior Choir sang "I cannot come to your banquet".

Gord Laidlaw told the children's story "The Little Red House with the Star".

An entertaining story, Mr. Laidlaw made it even more so when he cut a big red apple in half cross-wise to show how the seeds form a star.

The sermon for the rally, by Rev. Walter Ridley, was "Friends of Jesus".

In honor of three new babies in the congregation, three red roses graced the communion table. The three new babies are Stacey, Helen (Dunlop) and Ken McCormack's daughter;

Bradley, Debbie (May) and Doug Kee's son; and James Bruce, Bruce and Shirley Reid's son.

The Norval Women's Institute display was at the back of the church for members to view.

Fair prize

By KAY WILSON
Herald Correspondent

NORVAL - Norval Women's Institute received first prize for their display at the Georgetown Fall Fair early this month.

Much credit is due Dorothy McLean. Her research and write-up on the early pioneers who helped shape Norval was exceptionally good.

W.I. President Amy Burke and Marie Murray helped Mrs. McLean prepare the display.

The pioneers written about include James McNabb, Colonel Clay, Thomas Forester, Robert Noble, Dr. Samuel Webster and L.M. Montgomery.

Six wooden antique kitchen utensils were also part of the fair display.

the HERALD Community Artists, take note

Slowly, it's been creeping up, and Saturday, it will be deadline time.

If you have any wall art - paintings in oil, acrylic or watercolor; drawings; mixed media; fabric wallhangings; or original prints like etchings, lithography, woodcuts, linocuts or serigraphy, to your credit, get them in.

The first annual Juried Exhibition of Wall Art at the Gallery of the Halton Hills Library and Cultural Centre is open to all Halton Hills residents.

As many as three works may be submitted in the various categories and must be original works done in the past year.

Prizes will be given to the best work in each category, and selected works will be exhibited in the gallery from Oct. 4 to Oct. 23.

For more information, on the Here and Now '84 exhibition contact John Sommer of Gallery House Sal.

Three months abroad

By KAY WILSON
Herald Correspondent

NORVAL - Norval Women's Institute met at Eleanor Hyatt's home Thursday, with Amy Burke presiding.

Following the opening exercises, Marguerite Hunter and Dorothy McLean were appointed delegates to the Area Convention in Brussels.

Noreen Van Leeuwen offered to take the rug braiding course.

Guest speaker Carol Reid showed slides and talked on her three-month trip to the British Isles and Ireland as well as on a side trip to the continent.

Carol was thanked by Eileen Nixon and a social hour followed.

Family speaker

Communication within the Christian Family will be the topic of a day long workshop scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 24 at Knox Presbyterian Church, Georgetown. Dr. Skarsten of the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy and well known lecturer will be conducting the workshop.

A professing Christian, doctor Skarsten works with a variety of individuals, couples, families and agencies.

To register call the church office at 877-7585; cost is $10.

Obituary

Eleanor Bullivant

The daughter of the late Thomas and Annie Bullivant, formerly of Georgetown, Eleanor Bullivant, passed away suddenly at her home in Hamilton Sept. 5.

Miss Bullivant was interred at the White Chapel Cemetery in Ancaster following funeral services at the Cresmount Funeral Home in Hamilton, Sept. 8.

She was the dear sister of Jean Marshall of Tillsonburg, Anne McMenemy of Georgetown, and Isaac Bullivant of Hamilton, the brother with whom she had lived for the past nine years.

Miss Bullivant was predeceased by her brother Arthur.

Pallbearers at the funeral were her nephews Robert McMenemy of Sault Ste. Marie, David McMenemy of Georgetown and Mike McMenemy of Glen Williams, and great-nephews Gary Green of Peterborough, Randy Green of Guelph and Dean Van Evert of Tillsonburg.

Great-nephew Ryan Thompson of Carlisle was flower bearer.

Ministers from 1834 named on plaque

By J. ROSS
Herald Correspondent

STEWARTTOWN - At the memorial and anniversary service of St. John's Anglican Church last week, a plaque naming the church's ministers from 1834 to 1984, and a remembrance book of red leather, recording gifts from 1834 to the present time, were dedicated.

Rev. Lee mentioned in his sermon how faith, especially in 1834, when people gathered together to form St. John's, has been with the parish and how it has been passed down from one generation to the next, and is still being passed on.

Several descendants of the Thompson, Barnes and Standish families attended the service.

Music was provided by Bob Gracey and Mrs. A. Stokes, and a potluck supper was enjoyed afterwards.

Rally Sunday attendance low

BALLINAFAD - Many of the usual members which help make up the church attendance were missing at the Sunday service.

It being the last weekend of the summer, most likely they had visitors or decided to go visiting.

It was Rally Sunday, so the Sunday School assisted with the service.
