

OSIS workshop in Toronto

Tom Ramautarsingh of Georgetown High School, Ms. Linda MacKinnon (Timmins Board of Education) and Jack Little (London Board of Education), conducted a workshop on the new education program called Ontario Schools: Intermediate and Senior (OSIS), recently. Superintendents from school boards, community college staff members, principals, teachers, trustees and parent groups assembled at the Howard Johnson Hotel in Toronto to learn and discuss the OSIS document. School administrators from other provinces (Newfoundland,

New Brunswick and Alberta) discussed OSIS and other relevant topics. The new program will lead to the Ontario Secondary School Diploma (OSSD). It will replace the Ontario Secondary School Honour Graduation Diploma (OSSHD Grade 13), and the OSSD - Grade 12. A student, in order to graduate, must complete thirty credits in the new program of which sixteen courses are compulsory.

To meet university entrance requirements a student must complete six Ontario Academic Courses (Advanced Program) within the thirty credits. Universities will accept the new OSSD but no preferential treatment will be given to students who complete their OSSD in four years or less, (fast tracking). At present Georgetown District High School students who graduate at the end of January cannot enter Sheridan college in February because their semester starts in January.
