December fires worse in 1984

There were two fatalities, and two injuries sustained in fires in Halton in December.

December was not a good month in 1984, compared to 1983 when there were no fatalities and no injuries.

The Halton Hills fire department got called out 22 times in both December 1983 and 1984. Damages in fires last month totalled $99,425, and one firefighter was injured.

However, 1984 was a much better year overall compared to 1983. Fire department statistics show less fire damage and less injuries last year. As well, in both years, no firefighters died in action.

Teamwork helps Co-op budget

By MAGGIE HANNAH Herald Special

Georgetown's Co-op Sales and Service Centre should break-even this year after losing $231,000 in 1983.

Russ Coens, manager of the United Co-oper-ive of Ontario branch serving Acton and area, credited teamwork and dedication, with turning the financial picture around.

He made his comments in speaking to members at the recent annual meeting.

In 1983, he said, the centre lost $231,000. The loss was reduced to $72,236 in 1984 and by the end of this year the centre should be breaking even.
