

Accident victim awarded damages

MILTON—The victim of an accident at the Acton Fall Fair and his family have been awarded $8,775 and costs by a district court judge.

Judge Thomas Quinlan found Myrna Walker and Walkerlee Farms Ltd. of Walkerton to be "negligent and responsible" for injuries Roland Height suffered in an accident in the heavy horse ring at Acton Fall Fair in September 1982.

Judge Quinlan said the location of the accident was the key to responsibility for it and had he found Height to have been in the light horse ring at the time of the accident, he would have considered Height to be "the author of his own misfortunes."

Evidence given to the court during the trial in mid-January showed Mr. Height was assisting the heavy horse judge by bringing out the ribbons for presentation to the winners of various events.

After weighing the evidence, Judge Quinlan concluded Mrs. Walker was "negligent in the operation of her horse and bike, having overrun the light horse ring" and entering the heavy horse ring, injuring Mr. Height.

The judge said he believed Mrs. Walker was convinced she had her horse under control at all times and was convinced in her own mind she did not cross the line between the light horse ring in which she was competing and the adjacent ring in which Mr. Height was working as a member of the Acton Agricultural Society.

The facts, the judge concluded, do not agree with her belief. Judge Quinlan found problems in accepting testimony by several members of the Agricultural Society who testified on Mrs. Walker's behalf.

He said recollections by horse ring announcer Jesse McEnery were "not in accordance with the generally accepted evidence of the other witnesses."

He also "had difficulty" accepting the version of where and how the accident took place as presented by Bob Marshall, also a Fair board member.

His most severe criticism of Mrs. Walker's witnesses was aimed at Fair board member Bill Thompson.

"It would appear to me that Mr. Thompson decided that Mr. Height was at fault and has conveniently reconstructed the placement of the pylons (separating the two rings) to confirm that point," Judge Quinlan said.

The judge awarded Mr. Height $8,419 for special damages, loss of income and general damages, plus prejudgement interest at 11 per cent from October, 1983.

Mr. Height's wife, Peg received $988 plus interest and their son Timothy received $500 plus interest.

Mr. Height said he was satisfied with the judgement, adding he had only asked for $2,200 in lost income originally but when Mrs. Walker refused to admit the accident was her fault he had been forced to go to court and sought additional damages on his lawyer's advice.

Mr. Height, of RR1, Acton, suffered broken ribs and a spleen injury in the accident.
