

Separate schools hosting day care

By ANI PEDERIAN
Herald Staff

Starting up a program to care for school-aged children before and after school would cost between $5,000 and $15,000, estimates the Georgetown YMCA director.

A bag of basketballs costs $500, Mrs. Smith said.

However, she says she's determined to buy good quality equipment and supplies so the children will have a really good time.

The program for North Halton students will be designed to meet the needs of parents and those needs are to be determined thanks to surveys sent home with separate school students this week.

Mrs. Smith anticipates the day care for children six to 10 years old would likely run from 7 a.m. to school time, and from after school till 6 p.m.

Other programs to be run in the schools by the recreation department may restrict the program's hours, she said.

For parents, this program would be tax deductible and, for low-income families, eligible for regional subsidy.

TEN YEARS SERVICE

Dr. Pete Faux, a psychiatrist from Brampton was presented with a special award for his ten year service to Halton's regional health department as a consultant to children with emotional problems. He is now chief of psychiatry. Members of the regional health department were on hand to congratulate him as well as (left to right) Coun. Mike Armstrong, Medical Officer for the Region Dr. Graham Pollett, Dr. Faux's wife Mary and the region's director or nursing Dorothy Craig.

MAKE-UP SHOPPING DO'S AND DON'TS

Do buy the smallest sizes, until you're sure what you want.

Do approach buying make-up as you would a wardrobe. Starting with neutral first and filling in accents later.

Don't overlook the usefulness of store testers and free makeup consultations.

Don't feel pressured to buy things you're in doubt about.

Don't go by color names or by look alone. Looks can be deceiving, try everything before deciding.

Do read labels and the quality of the labels are "Greek" ask a qualified person for help.

Do take advantage of test cleansers use one to remove all sampled makeup.

Do try colors in combinations the way you'll wear them.

When testing foundation, it's best not to wear any so you can try colors on your face. To test elsewhere use neck or inner arm.

Never use eye shadow or mascara that someone else has used for hygiene reasons. When testing, use forearm or hand.

Talk to a professional person about your needs. The more you tell her, the better able she is to guide you.

Experiment with lip color in all forms. A color might be more appealing in another form, gloss, tint, or stick. Experiment with color when applying sheer and soft for a lighter day appearance. Darker for night or a more dramatic look.

MAKE-UP

Eyes: A darker foundation over bulging eyelids makes them seem less prominent.

A light shade of eyeliner will provide an extra flattering look for deep set eyes. To make eyes appear wider and larger, outline the upper and lower lids with a thin line of taupe eyeliner.

Before putting on eyeliner, powder the tops of your lids lightly. It will not smear and will keep fresh looking all day. To tame unruly eyelashes, try coating petroleum jelly on them lightly before retiring for the night.

Deep blue mascara will give brown eyes an added sparkle and size, and will also make the white appear whiter.

To bring out deep-set eyes, apply the heaviest application of mascara to the tips of the lashes.

Your eyebrow pencil should usually match color of your hair. But if you're an ash brown, or blonde, try a gray pencil and golden blondes should use a light brown pencil.

CULTURED KIDS

Children at Holy Cross Separate School come from all parts of the world. Last week, they filled a room with their ethnic treasures. Kristina Gaspar, 8, of Croatian descent, modelled a Croatian vest brought in by fellow classmate Marianne Krascic. Cooling off next to Kristina is Pii Son Joong, 9. The black Korean headwear he has on is decorated with gold characters and used to be worn by Pii for special pictures.
