

ABOUT THE HILLS

Latin American speaker

Galo Vasquez, co-founder and general director of VELA (Vision for evangelization in Latin America), believes that the media has yet to be used to its fullest extent in most Latin American countries.

He sees the media, particularly television, as a powerful tool to help fulfill the Great Commission and bring hope to nations undergoing political strife and economic turbulence.

Mr. Vasquez will speak at Maple Avenue Baptist Church in Georgetown on May 12 at 6:30 p.m. His North American tour is sponsored by Christian Nationals, an interdenominational faith mission located in San Jose, California.

VELA's headquarters are located in Mexico City, which is growing at the rate of one million people each year and predicted to be the world's largest city by 2000 A.D.

About six million people live in slums ringing Mexico City, and thousands pour in every day from rural areas. They are only exchanging rural poverty for urban poverty, and many have lost hope.

Church rummage sale

By WINIFRED SMITH
Herald Correspondent

BALLINAFAD - It's housecleaning time. Everyone please remember the Garage and Rummage Sale at the Ballinafad United Church Saturday May 11 from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m.

Someone will be at the church Thursday and Friday evenings between 7-9 p.m. to receive your much needed articles. Please support the U.C.W.

Y Kelso camp

Don't wait any longer. The Georgetown YMCA is taking registrations for Kelso day camp. Day camp options include computer camp, sailing camp, CIT program and French immersion.

Also available is creative arts camp and new this year, riding camp. Stop by the YMCA office today to pick up a day camp brochure or call 877-6163 for more information.

Ghosts at the library

Did you miss out when Emily Cain, author of the book "Ghost Ships" presented the slides of the Hamilton-Scourge expeditions, at the Georgetown Library?

You now have a second chance to see these popular slides at CBC (Coffee, Books and Conversation) on Friday, May 10. Just drop in the library about 1 o'clock, to glance through the latest books and watch this fascinating slide presentation. This is your last chance. A free program.

Your writing analysed

The Georgetown Library is pleased to present Lisa Stevens of Mississauga, expert graphologist, Saturday at 2 p.m.

Lisa has presented her handwriting analysis program to enthusiastic audiences at neighboring libraries in the past.

She will discuss the scientific background of handwriting analysis and examine the handwriting of some volunteers from the audience.

As Lisa says, "The more the merrier", so arrive early to get a good seat. There is no registration and this is a free program.

Museum gems on show

The Georgetown Library has received the fourth in a series of displays from the R.O.M. This one is called "Fluorescent Minerals", and it will be here for only one more week.

The fur trade in Canada will be presented in the next display, "Partners in the fur trade". Don't miss out. Drop in to take a look at each of these displays.

Service dedicates room for church

By WINIFRED SMITH
Herald Correspondent

BALLINAFAD - The anniversary service was enjoyed by a capacity crowd on Sunday. A few chairs had to be put in the aisle to accommodate some of those attending.

Beautiful floral arrangements were placed in the Sanctuary. There was special music for the occasion. Ernie McEnery played the violin as he accompanied his wife Eileen with the organ music.

The choir sang a beautiful anthem, also members from St. Andrew's Church, Georgetown who favored the church with a musical selection.

There was also a member of their congregation who brought greetings and asked God's blessing for future happiness.

Rev. Wayne Maddock was the guest speaker. He is Chaplain at Sunnybrook Hospital in Toronto.

He spoke on "Maintaining our Faith". Dr. Bandy then had a message for all who had made the day possible. He gave special appreciation to the many who had given memorial gifts for the new fellowship room.

The entire Shortill family was given special mention for their support in the construction of the room, in loving memory of Robert B. Shortill.

Dr. Bandy then led in the dedication of the room. Rev. Maddock and Rev. Bandy were downstairs to welcome visitors and former residents to this anniversary and dedication which will be written down as another milestone in the history of the church.

Next Sunday May 12 is family Sunday. There will be no Sunday School as entire families will worship together for this special service.

International theme for Ballinafad

By WINIFRED SMITH
Herald Correspondent

The May meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Burt May 1.

There were several visitors, making the total number present around 20. The new president Eleanor McLean opened the meeting by asking those present to sing the ode and repeat the collect.

Roll call was dress or bring some thing from another country starting with the first letter of your last name.

Grace McEnery was then called on for the program. The theme was international and two conveners gave reports on their topics.

Eleanor McLean gave the motto of giving and sharing. Because of the international theme of the meeting, Doris Fines from Ospringe was asked to speak about her trip to Australia and New Zealand.

I would like to thank the citizens of Halton-Burlington for their support at the Polls.

I will do my best to be worthy of your confidence and pledge to represent you in a capable manner at Queen's Park.
