When you're a youngster trying to be a catcher, sometimes you find out it is not all that it is cracked up to be. First of all, you likely need help putting on the equipment, which isn't really that bad. However, when you're a catcher in T-ball one could say the action is not always steady. Right, this young catcher stands pat until he can tag a runner out. That is, even though his left leg pad is somewhat out of place.
