Company could have landfill site ready

Herald Special
If regional council would only agree to it, National Sewer Pipe (NSP) could have a private landfill ready for use by the time the existing regional landfill site is filled.

Tait, said his client has made an application to the ministry of environment in 1982 to develop a private landfill of the property known as Site F in Burlington. That application has been on hold for more than three years in cooperation with Halton Region and Burlington while the region chose a preferred site. If the region proceeds with environmental assessment studies on any sites other than Site F, or if it enters agreement with modern landfill, NSP will immediately ask the MOE and the Ministry of Housing to begin processing the application. NSP is prepared to negotiate a contract with the region to landfill regional waste at Site F at a cost less than the cost at Modern Landfill. NSP is prepared to consider a resource recovery facility on its property, land will even go so far as to provide a location for an EFW plant if the region requests it.
