

Ward 2

TOWN

Understands the needs

TED HILTON

Ted Hilton is a 44-year-old Esqueusing resident who is seeking to be a councillor for Esqueusing (Ward 2), because he believes that the area must be represented by a resident who has an understanding of the diversified needs of the people of Esqueusing, and is willing to act on them. Mr. Hilton believes he is such a person!

Ted Hilton

For the past 23 years Mr. Hilton has been a police officer in Toronto. Here he is continually confronted by social and legal issues (including internal management problems) involving people from every walk of life. The credible manner in which he has handled these problems has given him an invaluable experience that will aid him in dealing with the needs of his constituents.

Mr. Hilton, while in his mid-teens, lived and worked on a farm in the Kitchener area. Since then he has kept close ties with the agricultural community, and even today is a member of the Acton Agricultural Society's Fall Fair Board. He knows

Problems not being heard

JOE HEWITT

Thank you for being concerned enough to read this election section of your paper.

I am running for the position of Halton Hills Ward 2, Area councillor because I am concerned that your problems are not being heard and adequately represented at your Council. The concerns in Ward 2 are many

Joe Hewitt

because we are such a large diversified area with each Hamlet having its own unique problems, but collectively we share many similar ones.

The next three years will mark a major crossroads in where the Town of Halton Hills is going. We as citizens must have the best possible people in the decision seats in order to have proper financial and social leadership that this Corporation deserves.

We must have representatives that will take the time to investigate the problems and work hard to reach solutions.

We must have people that understand municipal and provincial laws and make efforts to change or establish new ones, to solve those problems.

We must have representatives that can talk to Town staff on your behalf, to get snow removed, grass cut and drains cleaned.

You have received my election flyer and I have attempted to visit every household that I possibly can, to discuss the issues.

I make no promises, except that I will do my best on your behalf. My experience in the municipal, legal, construction and business fields, give me the tools to accomplish the job.

I ask for your consideration on November 12th, when you have the chance to make your vote count, consider the candidates and the issues.

the needs of farmers.

Today, as a rural-urban resident himself, Mr. Hilton has first-hand knowledge of the unique needs of this group of people.

Ted Hilton, when elected, will commit himself to serving Esqueusing in a manner that he would expect other elected officials to serve - conscientiously and responsibly while remaining accountable. He will always keep the needs of Esqueusing uppermost in his mind when dealing with every issue brought before council, and will continually be "the voice for Esqueusing."

Before you send it, seal it... with a Christmas Seal!
