

Icy road conditions

Icy roads contributed to an Acton woman's driving off the Sixth Line at Highway 7 Saturday at 10 a.m. She was southbound when she left the road and hit two trees. Damage to her 1971 Dodge was $1,500 and $100 to the trees, police said.

Turns to damage

A Georgetown woman turned her 1981 Pontiac onto Sinclair Avenue and into the path of a Georgetown man's 1976 Pontiac Friday at 3:30 p.m., police said. Damage to the woman's car was $1,500 and $2,000 to the man's car.

Stolen plates

An Audi parked at 232 Guelph Street had $300 damage done to it when the hood and fender was scratched last week. Saturday evening $395 in cassette tapes were stolen from a Dodge van parked on Main Street. Window shield wipers of a Ford Escort parked on Park Avenue will cost $30 to repair. The willful damage happened Saturday.

Deer hits car

A deer on Guelph Street at Hall Road did $2,000 damage to a Georgetown man's 1985 Buick Tuesday at 7:50 p.m. The deer was running across the road when hit.

Damage totals $1,500

Two cars received $1,500 damage each Monday at 8:50 a.m. on an icy Arthur Street, at Acton Boulevard. An Acton man driving a 1982 Chevrolet was eastbound on Arthur Street when he tried to stop at the Acton Boulevard intersection. He could not and hit an Acton woman's 1986 Chevrolet.

Pomeroy dials 911

Regional Chairman Peter Pomeroy made the first emergency call using the new 911 number Friday. The 911 number puts Halton Hills residents in touch with an emergency answering bureau that forwards the call to the appropriate service. The emergency bureau is in Oakville on 1229 White Oaks Boulevard.

Cars collide

A Georgetown woman driving her 1980 Volkswagen 50 km an hour on Maple Avenue Thursday near Delrex Boulevard collided with an Acton woman's 1980 Dodge moving slowly from a stop position, police said. She tried to stop her Volkswagen but could not; damage to it was $900 and $600 to the Dodge.

50/50 damage

A Mississauga man driving a 1976 Chevrolet on Sinclair Avenue at Mountainview Road South thought a Georgetown man's Chevrolet would turn and hit it when it did not. Both cars received $500 damage in the Nov. 4 accident.

BREATHING EASY

Victim 'fair'

The condition of 4 year-old Angela McDonald, who was hit by a car on Main Street North at the CNR bridge last week, has improved. Her condition is 'fair', said an official from the Hospital for Sick Children.

The Stoney Creek man, 20, driving the car, was charged with careless driving. Icy roads contributed to the accident, police said.

Loblaws robbed

Thieves cut through the roof of Loblaws on Guelph Street, cut into the store safe with torches and stole over $5,000 in cash some time between Saturday night and Sunday morning. The thieves went through the roof near an air vent, police said.

Couple dislike Sec. 63

Town council has received a letter objecting to the implementation of Section 63 in 1986.

Kay and Vern McCumber of Georgetown said it was "grossly unfair" of council to raise their taxes without proper justification or advance knowledge.

The Ward 3 residents said their ward hasn't received any special treatment. Section 63 is a market value assessment system of taxation that 80 per cent of the province has changed to. "...in fact, the people in the other wards have a great deal more offered to them," the couple wrote. "Our street is rarely washed. The snow, when removed, is piled up on our sidewalk practically to our door. The boulevard across the street is never cut. This faces our front windows."

The McCumbers have owned their Chapel Street home since 1944 and said they are "bitterly disappointed" in council's decision.

"Please reconsider this bill and give some thought to the people it affects," Mr. and Mrs. McCumber concluded in their letter.

Monday night, councillors opted to send a copy of council's decision in the general committee minutes on to the couple, along with the staff report on Section 63.
