

Sledding, sweeping, skiing away those winter blues

A 12-year old Mississauga girl won the title of Sweetheart Queen at the Terra Cotta Conservation Area Sunday. Brandy Falconer was selected for her enthusiastic participation in the day's activities. Also turning up were Heather Revie, 10, of Mississauga and Michelle Sturley, 12, of Orangeville. The two were crowned Sweetheart Queen in 1981 and 1985. (Herald photo)

Terra Cotta's winter carnival

It was two-year old Christine Higgs' first time on skis. The Brampton youngster joined the rest of her family on the trails at the Terra Cotta Conservation Area Sunday afternoon.

Clomp clomp clomp. Nothing like a horse drawn sleigh ride on a wintery day. Fred Thompson of Hillsburgh and his Belgian horses gave free rides Sunday to visitors at the Terra Cotta Conservation Area. (Herald photo)

Getting your act together becomes a little tricky when you've got four pairs of legs to co-ordinate. The tandem ski races at the Terra Cotta Conservation Area proved to be a lot of fun for the contenders and the watchers. Teams needed rhythm to get to the other end of the field, to say nothing of co-ordination. Sunday. (Herald photo)

running on these teardrop shaped shoes, as many soon discovered after their first fall in the snow. (Herald photo)
