Raider's history, experience main reasons
Flamboro picks up Tataryn

By DAN RALPH
 Herald Sports Editor
 Georgetown Chrysler Raiders goalie Dave Tataryn has been added to Flamboro Motts Clamatoes' lineup in time for the team's drive towards an Allan Cup championship.

The 35-year-old Tataryn was notified of the transaction last Wednesday and attended Flamboro's practice later that night. Flamboro started its best-of-seven Allan Cup semi final series against Cornerbrook, Nfld., Friday in Brantford.

If the series goes the distance, the deciding contest will be played Saturday in Brantford. The winner will travel to either Winnipeg, Man., or Nelson, B.C., to play in the Allan Cup final slated for April 25-May 2. The series currently is tied 2-2 with the fifth game going tonight. Game Six will be played tomorrow evening.

Tataryn won't likely see any action in the Flamboro goal. He was added as insurance just in case Flamboro starting goalie Ken Ellacott or backup Bob Ferguson get hurt or don't perform well. Tataryn said he isn't hoping for either player to get hurt or falter so that he may get some playing time.

Also, Tataryn hadn't been on skates for over three weeks prior to attending the Clamatoes' practice. He last saw game action Mar. 4 when the Raiders tangled with Dundas Real McCoys in the first round of the Senior "A" playoffs. Dundas eliminated Georgetown 4-0 in the best-of-seven series.

"If I have to see ice time it means they're (Flamboro goalies) not doing their job," Tataryn said. "That's not my way of thinking (hoping for injury). I'm past that stage."

By virtue of qualifying for the Allan Cup playoffs, Flamboro was allowed to add one goaltender to its lineup. Clamatoes' GM Don Robertson explained why he elected to take Tataryn.

"Dave is a veteran of Allan Cup play, he's been there and has the experience," Robertson said. "On a given night he's as good as anyone in our league."

Robertson said Flamboro will start out using Ellacott in goal, but didn't dismiss the possibility that

Tataryn might see some action. "I'm making no predictions," he said. "We're happy to have Dave with us."

This marks the third time Tataryn has been picked up by another team heading into the Allan Cup playoffs. Back in 1979 Tataryn was added to Thunder Bay's lineup when the regular goalie got hurt. Tataryn played in the final two games as Thunder Bay lost to Petrolia in the deciding game in the Allan Cup semi-finals.

Tataryn was picked up by Petrolia in 1981 and actively played for the Squires' Allan Cup winning team that year. In all, Tataryn has played in four Allan Cup finals (three with Cambridge, one with Petrolia), and was part of two championship winners. Also, Tataryn was the Most Valuable Player in two of these finals.

On the two prior occasions he was picked up, Tataryn said he felt a part of the team because he knew he would be able to play. However this time fitting in will be difficult. "I'd feel a lot better if it was my team (in playoffs)," he said. "I don't feel like a part of the team. I know a lot of the players but I haven't shared in their blood, sweat and tears. You can't be part of a team until you contribute."

"I'm insurance just in case Ellacott goes down. But he's durable and I don't expect him to (get hurt) and I don't expect to play. When I was picked up by Thunder Bay and Petrolia I knew I was going to play."

Tataryn said when at Flamboro's practice he noticed the Clamatoes didn't have as many good shooters as the Raiders. But he knows why the Flamboro team won the Senior "A" loop and why they're playing for a berth in the Allan Cup finals.

"Work, practice and they're very disciplined," he said. Tataryn spent a total of nine years in the Senior ranks. His first seven were with Cambridge Hornets, and the last two were with the Raiders. As a Hornet Tataryn played in over 180 games and had a goals-against average of 3.33.

As a Raider Tataryn played in 45 of 47 games (including playoffs) his first year and registered a 3.89 goals-against average (third best in the league). This year Tataryn played in 17 games during the regular season and led the league with a 4.09 goals-against mark. Tataryn also played in two of the Raiders' playoff games against Dundas.

Georgetown's Chateau bantams win Tri-County circuit crown

The Chateau Restaurant Minor Bantams "AA" under coach Bob O'Driscoll defeated Flamboro to win the Tri-County trophy last week.

Game One on home ice put Georgetown one up with a 3-2 victory. Goal scorers were Doug McDermot, Travis Gardiner and Brent Presswood. Gardiner counted two assists and Chris Stoddard a single. Sean Colton was in net for the win.

Game Two in Flamboro saw Curtin Green earn a shutout as the locals won 3-0. Greg Onoprijenko, McDermot and Presswood were the three marksmen. Doug Kent, Don Guest and Gardiner assisted on the goals.

Back home again the locals never really got on track in this game as Flamboro went ahead three goals before Steve Sutherland with help from Cam Herman and Stoddard got Georgetown's only goal. Flamboro scored once more to take this one 4-1.

The fourth and final game at Carleton Place was rough and both teams had numerous penalties. Green kept

The Chateau in the game as he made some tremendous saves. Kent, Stoddard and Steve Sutherland each put the puck past Flamboro's goalie. Presswood, McDermot (2), Kent, Adam Bennett and Stoddard worked hard for assists.

The Bantams had a successful year and would like to thank coach O'Driscoll, manager Harvey Green and Gary Southworth for the time and effort they put into this year.

Hanman crew back from tourney

NOVA SCOTIA BOUND—Members of the Hanman Electric "AA" Major Pee wees pose with their equipment prior to leaving for a hockey tournament in Nova Scotia last week. The team won one game and dropped two tough contests in tournament play. Also, the squad and their families visited many scenic sites in the Maritime province. (Herald photo)

The Hanman Electric Major "AA" Pee wees ran into some tough competition last week while taking part in a hockey tournament played in Nova Scotia.

The team left Georgetown last Wednesday for Nova Scotia and played its first game the following day against Cape Breton's Port Hawkesbury team. Although the Georgetown team dropped a 3-1 decision, Hanman goaltender Marc St. Pierre played well between the pipes for the locals. Wes McCauley scored the lone goal for the Hanman Electric team.

The Georgetown team met defending tournament champions Summerside, Prince Edward Island, and with just a minute and half left to play the two teams were in a 2-2 deadlock. However, Summerside scored a pair of tallies to take the contest by a 4-2 decision. Wade Serjeantson and Jim English had the goals for the Georgetown team. Also, Hanman Electric goaltender Chris Cambouris was named the Most Valuable Player of the game.

In the Hanman team's third and final game of the tournament, the locals certainly saved their best effort for last. Facing off against Chebucto of Halifax the locals recorded a one-sided 9-1 victory. Andy Pearce led the way with four goals and an assist while both McCauley and Rod Pasma chipped in with a pair of tallies. Bill McDonald had the other goal. Pearce, who played his final official game in a Georgetown uniform, was named the Most Valuable Player of the contest.

In addition to the hockey tournament, the Georgetown team (accompanied by family members) took in the sights of Nova Scotia in its spare time. The squad visited Peggy's Cove, The Citadel and Halifax's Harborfront to name but a few. The hockey team arrived home late Sunday evening.

Which Dave will it be?

Gemini presidency question answered tonight

By DAN RALPH
 Herald Sports Editor
 As a decision on who will become president of Georgetown Jr. "B" Gemini nears, the two men contesting for the position are dealing with the issue in quite differing manners.

Incumbent president Dave Barrager says he feels no different about tonight's decision than he has for prior executive meetings. For Barrager, it will be like another day at the office.

"I've won elections before and have lost elections before," Barrager said Monday. "Whatever happens, happens. If Dave is the choice I hope we have a super working relationship. If I'm elected I hope it's vice versa."

Meanwhile Kentner says he's feeling a little nervous about the election. After all, it's his first exposure to hockey in almost two years since resigning as general manager of the Senior "A" Georgetown Chrysler Raiders two years ago.

"I guess destiny will take its course Wednesday (tonight)," Kentner said.

Tonight's election of officers will be held at the McGibbon Hotel starting at 7:30 p.m.

Incumbent Barrager said he's happy there is competition for the president's position. The earlier the Gemini get the ball rolling for the '88-89 season the better, he said.

"If we can keep the competitiveness going in our executive we can keep the competitiveness going on the ice," Barrager said. "Whatever way the ball tumbles will be good for Junior hockey in Georgetown."

"It's the old saying that you can't stop the wheel from turning or else it will rust up. (I'm looking forward) to finding out where the club is going this year," Barrager added.

Kentner too agrees Junior hockey in Georgetown will benefit from the contesting for the president's role.

"The Junior program will be better for it," he said. "No matter who's involved it's going to be an exciting year."

Kentner said he hopes those members of last year's executive aren't replaced by new individuals. Kentner explained further what the team needs are more people to help the executive members out.

"Of the people in the executive, they were all wearing too many hats," Kentner said. "They don't need to be replaced rather they need assistance which is what I'll give them."

After having been away from hockey almost two years, Kentner is glad to be back.

"I've enjoyed this part of it to date. The last three weeks I've had the opportunity to hear people's concerns and ideas," he said. "I've had more calls from people saying that if I get in they'll buy sweaters. I've never had a lineup of people waiting before."

Both men too expect the election to be a close affair.

"It's going to be a difficult decision for the people making the decision," Kentner said. "It's a serious decision that shouldn't be taken lightly. I expect it to be a dog fight but no matter who's elected the Gemini will have a good president."

Dave Barrager Dave Kentner

"I've got some support and I know Dave's got some support," Barrager said. "That's what makes an election."
